Jeff Board to Attempt Ouster Of Superintendent Tonight?

By FRANK LaPIERRE

A special meeting of the Jefferson Elementary School District board of trustees has been called by chairman Dorothy Adams for 8 tonight and already rumors are rife that an attempt will be made to oust Supt. Frank Greenwood.

The agenda includes some potential bombshell items, including the recall of all credit cards now issued to district personnel and board members. This recall also will affect the district's Classified Personnel Commission.

According to information available the cards will not be reissued pending adoption of a new policy now being drafted by special legal counsel hired last week.

It also was anticipated that a resolution will be prepared designed to reduce the present $2000 revolving cash fund.

This was one of the recommendations made by a special state audit team which made its presentation to the board late last month.

The revolving cash fund, supposedly used to purchase necessary small items for the district, was increased from $500 to its present limit some nine years ago.

Adoption of a policy requiring receipts for certain reimbursable expenses by officers and employees of the district also will be discussed.

In or Out?

The meeting will be kicked off with a discussion of the state audit report between the board and, if they are available, the state auditors.

There are questions the board wants to ask the audit team's head, Robert Hamric, on several matters brought forth by the investigation, trustee David Parker said.

Other matters to be taken up by the board include:

—Rehiring of Miss Marge Tobias as consultant and substitute principal for 1973-74 school year.

—Request a written opinion of District Attorney Keith Sorenson on order of actions by Personnel Commission and board when employees of the district are reclassified and higher salaries are to be paid.

—Order two copies of the annotated education code and updating service from California School Boards Association (CSBA), to be available for use by board members.

—Consent to former Deputy District Attorney James Parmelee, now in private practice, to give legal assistance to August Masini in the current dispute over the district's gardening contract in the case of the Classified School Employees Association (CSEA) versus JESD.

Much Talk, Little Action On 'Illegal' D.C. Deck

The Westlake Subdivisions Improvement Association (WSIA) has ruled that a deck built illegally by a Beechwood Avenue homeowner may be all right with Daly City but it violates the association's covenants and restrictions.

It does, the WSIA board ruled at a recent meeting, infringe on the view of another association member—Mrs. Maria Boyling—and action must be taken to set the matter straight.

But what action should be taken has Mrs. Boyling baffled, and boiling mad.

Monday she again went before the city council to ask for their support in her prolonged fight to have a deck built next door at the home of Robert Boyette, 797 Beechwood Ave., torn down, or modified.

She contends her purchase of the home at 793 Beechwood was contingent on the view of the city—a view that is now blotted out by the massive deck jutting out past her living room window.

City Atty. Albert Polonsky, who last week told the council he would await the decision of the WSIA before suggesting what course of action the city should take, Monday said there was nothing Daly City could officially do, the matter was in the hands of the WSIA directors.

As far as the city is concerned, Polonsky said, the deck meets building code requirements, even though the builder did not have a permit when the deck was built and the issue of his obtaining a permit had to be settled in the courts.

The court merely wanted Boyette to get a permit and left whether the deck met the building codes up to the city of Daly City, Polonsky explained to an angered Mrs. Boyling.

Polonsky also advised Mrs. Boyling that she might pursue the matter in court based on the ruling of the SWIA directors, or await the decision of the directors themselves on what to do with the deck.

"If (the deck) violates the association's covenants it is incumbent on the Westlake Subdivisions Improvement Association to follow through," Councilman McRobert Stewart, former WSIA director and Daly City planning commissioner, said.

He said the city had insured that the deck complied with the building code.

Councilman Bernard Lycett, however, said he was not happy with the "catch as catch can" attitude of some property owners in the city.

Lycett, at an earlier meeting on the matter, said he was concerned that such construction was going on in the city without proper inspection or building permits and once violators are discovered they merely had to get a permit.

Tripling of Cost Stalls SSF Levee

A possible tripling of the cost of a levee project on Commercial Avenue brought its progress to a quick halt by the South San Francisco City Council Monday night, amid some angered dialogue about it.

The original $6,000 estimate by the Department of Ecological Development several months ago under then-director Fred Hull has gone to around $18,000, City Manager Gale Dreisbach told the council at its study session. California Water Co. already has approved the plan, Dreisbach went on.

Current acting co-director of DED Mike Wilson told the council Monday that with the $18,000 the levee should be more secure in an engineering sense. He said the higher cost will allow construction of a small controlled lake behind a flap gate as opposed to an uncontrolled flooded lake.

However, the council refused to approve the project immediately until a more detailed outline of the cost increase and layout of the project is presented to the councilmen. Wilson said he could have the details to them by Friday in order to act on the project at their regular meeting Monday evening.

Councilman William Borba did ask for a "guarantee" that the $18,000 levee will prevent flooding. Both Wilson and his co-director Hugo Spoppoloni said any guarantee is impossible for any project. Borba was insistent that the council see a complete layout before approving any increase in funding.

Councilman Terry Mirri admitted some confusion at the need for an increase and why an engineer was not present at the meeting to offer a more in depth explanation. He also stressed a need to take a greater look at the potential $12,000 increase.

"I certainly would like to look at this some more," Mirri declared. "I was not aware this would come up this evening."

However, Mayor Warren Steinkamp stressed his opinion that staff should be authorized to go ahead with the project as they already know "what the council wants." He added he could see not reason for a delay.

Steinkamp did express concern over what he called a "poor entrance" into Colma Creek at the Commercial Avenue area and asked that the county be encouraged to put in a long sweeping type of entrance rather than a short one. Dreisbach replied the matter has been brought forward repeatedly at the county level with little result.

In other business the council passed a resolution denying a claim by the South San Francisco Unified School District for $2900 suffered in flood damages in October, 1972. Reasons given by the council for denial were due to late filing and that the Flood Control District Agency should be sought rather than the council.

Another adopted resolution will allow the assistant director of emergency services to sign authorization papers for emergency city federal funding projects.

Council Honors 2 D.C. Men

The Daly City Council Monday honored two young men in separate actions.

One of the youths — Ralph Howard, 15, was recently named Governor of the American Legion-sponsored Boy's State event.

Ralph topped some 900 other youths from throughout the state in seeking the coveted post of Governor for a day.

Councilman Victor Kyriakis, in presenting the youth with a council resolution, said the city was "greatly honored" to have him living in the city.

Kyriakis, who is acting mayor in the absence of Mayor Anthony Giammona, said he, too, participated in the Boys' State event when he was in high school, "but all I ever made was senator."

The resolution praised young Howard for his achievement and said "this honor denotes the loyal and faithful devotion that (he) has applied to his duties at school, family and the community."

The youth said when he ran he had no idea it "would entail such responsibilities."

He will now enter the Boys' Nation event, where youths participate in federal government for a day.

Also honored for his achievements as an Eagle Scout was John Snoberger. Kyriakis also introduced the youth, pointing out that an Eagle Scout must have at least 21 merit badges "and John has 36 badges."

The youth conceived and organized the Daly City Community Band — with both youth and adults are participating.

Sheriff's Deputies Arrest Two in Wild Melee

Two men were arrested by sheriff's deputies Monday after they allegedly threatened a group of young persons in La Honda, cutting one with a knife and then dumping two of the victims' motorcycles over a 20-foot embankment into a creekbed.

Booked at County Jail on charges of assault with a deadly weapon after they were stopped in a pickup truck seven miles from the scene of the incident were Jerome Taylor, 22, a mechanic, of Woodside, and George Villalba, 24, a plater, of San Jose.

According to Sheriff's Deputies Gil Gagnon and Gene Magin, the altercation took place at the end of Estrada Street off La Honda Road near Apple Jack's bar about 8:50 p.m.

Five persons were sitting and talking, the deputies related, when Taylor and Villalba drove into the bar parking lot. The two approached the group and allegedly made lewd remarks to two teen-age girls in the group.

According to Craig L. Finstead, 22, of La Honda, his brother, Rodney, 18, and Eric Krebs, 18, of Pescadero, Taylor pulled a hunting knife and placed the point at Rodney Finstead's throat. He then turned his attention to Krebs. The latter started to grapple with Taylor, and the two tumbled down an embankment.

Krebs related that he was cut in the chest by the knife, and that Taylor got up, pointing the knife at him and ordering him to remain where he was lying.

Meanwhile, the victims told deputies. Villalba had started fighting with Craig Hinstead. Rodney Finstead hit Villalba over the head with a beer bottle, and the two brothers started into the bar to call the sheriff's office.

While they were gone, Taylor and Villalba assertedly took the brothers' two motorcycles and pushed them into the creekbed, causing extensive damage to the vehicles.

Taylor and Villalba drove off east on La Honda Road. After Gagnon and Magin arrived at the scene and were informed of what had occurred, they radioed a description of the pickup truck.

Sheriff's Deputies Jack Wright and Quincy Powell spotted the truck a few minutes later on the Woodside-La Honda Road and stopped the vehicle, placing the two men under arrest.

Wright reported that just before the truck stopped, he observed an object, presumably the hunting knife, being thrown from the passenger window of the pickup. Deputies searched for the weapon, but could not find it in the darkness. A search was to be resumed today.

Gagnon reported that the wound to Krebs was not serious and did not require hospital treatment.

Witness to Robbery Try Shot 3 Times

A San Mateo man was shot twice with a pistol and once with a shotgun during a robbery attempt he witnessed at a Millbrae pizza parlor on Monday.

James D. Barnett, 25, 25 North Idaho Street, was taken to Peninsula Hospital with bullet wounds in the abdomen and chest, and shotgun wounds of the thigh.

He was reported in critical condition this morning.

Millbrae Police Sgt. Ronald Caine said Barnett was a customer at the Pizza Hut, 160 El Camino Real, when two men walked in to begin a holdup at 10:45 p.m.

Both men were described as being in their 20s, and 6 feet tall. One was blond, medium build, with brown striped shirt and dark cords, with curly hair over his ears. The other, said witnesses, was heavier, with black medium-length hair, a bulky nylon jacket, dark blue pants and sunglasses.

One of the gunmen showed an automatic pistol and ordered the clerk and customers aside.

Sgt. Caine said he is not sure just what happened, but that Barnett was ordered several times to lie down on the floor.

Apparently Barnett did not lie down and may have attempted to take the pistol away from the gunman, police said.

There was a blast from a hidden shotgun, and Barnett was hit in the thigh.

Witnesses told police they had not been aware that the second robber carried a gun, and did not see it.

Officers said shotgun wadding and other evidence indicate the weapon was a 12-gauge shotgun, possibly sawed off.

Police were told the two holdup men immediately left the Pizza Hut taking nothing, and drove northward on El Camino Real.

No Left Turns—for Awhile

San Bruno Votes Barriers To Camino Plaza Traffic

In a compromise decision the San Bruno City Council Monday night approved a three-month temporary barrier on San Bruno Avenue at Camino Plaza to prevent left turns on to and out of Camino Plaza.

The test period was recommended by the city Chamber of Commerce to "give the city and merchants sufficient time to determine the deleterious effects of preventing left turns into and out of Camino Plaza."

It has been an on-going battle for several years by the city's Traffic Safety Committee to erect the barrier at this intersection. Each effort in the past has been successfully fought by the principal property owner along Camino Plaza, G. W. Williams Sr., on an "economics" basis.

Depending on where one sat, Monday night's decision could be interpreted as a temporary success, or temporary failure.

The chamber recommendation also noted that the "economic damage to the Mills Park business community and traffic information from alternate access and egress streets" should be carefully studied near the end of the trial period.

Yet, the council established no criteria for such a study. An amendment by Councilman Neil Christal on an initial motion by Councilman John Barnard would have had the chamber do such an "economic" survey. But the amendment died after Councilman Tony Governale noted that "if anyone should pay for it (the survey) it should be the G. W. Williams Co."

At that point the council simply passed unanimously the motion that the city would follow the chamber of commerce recommendation and erect a temporary barrier. Presumably the city will keep tabs on the traffic flow to prove its contention that not only will the barrier prevent "rear-ender" accidents but it also will not have an adverse effect on traffic flow into the Mills Park shopping area.

Much of the rhetoric leading up to the council's decision was a replay of what has been stated on many other occasions before both the city council and the city's traffic committeemen.

City Eng. Leo Van Dusen noted that there were 18 accidents at the intersection from February of 1972 through January of 1973. He said all concerned left turns and they could be eliminated with installation of a barrier.

Van Dusen also noted that 89 per cent of these accidents occurred during "non-commute" hours. He refuted the contention that the barrier would create a problem at the Kains Avenue-Camino Plaza intersection.

Williams suggested that if the aim is to prevent left turns it could be just as easily done by simply installing a sign saying "no left turn."

Mayor Margaret Kozkowski refuted this position. "Signs don't do it," she said. "They just don't do it. I know from experience that people don't read signs."

Williams said he didn't think "proper consideration" was being given to his "argument." He said the problem was that there was no "storage" on San Bruno Avenue westbound for left turns onto Camino Plaza.

He also said the traffic eastbound on San Bruno Avenue traveled "too fast" and tended to concentrate more on the traffic signal at El Camino Real. To correct this, he suggested the erection of a "slow" sign between Elm Avenue and Camino Plaza, and possibly even a "stop" sign at Camino Plaza.

As to the "storage" problem on westbound lanes on San Bruno Avenue he suggested the roadway be painted with arrows. The left lane in particular would indicate a left turn.

"I don't think the merchants should be interrupted for 120 days," said Williams. "I'm suggesting alternates that ought to be workable. It's very easy to give it a try—and inexpensive."

Two merchants spoke on their plight. Barber George Psaila, who has a shop at 715 Camino Plaza, said "all I know is that financially it (the barrier) will hurt me."

Marvin Alldaffer, representing Lyons Restaurants, reiterated his claim that the barrier would mean a 25 per cent loss in his business, which he described as "a drop-in type thing."

There were an equal number of those speaking in favor of the barrier, including a woman who described a time she was hauling numerous children in a station wagon and was nearly rear-ended by a truck.

Pacifica Building Permit Delay

Two hearings on appeals from decisions of the Pacifica Planning Commission took place at Monday's meeting of the Pacifica City Council.

In addition, the council, in a split vote, decided to hold up issuance of building permits to builders of homes, and other projects, within 1,000 yards of the ocean, until their plans receive approval of the Coastal Conservation Commission.

Councilmen denied an appeal from Mary Lou Giedzinski and Janice W. Roiz of the Concerned Neighbors Committee of Fairmont. They appealed the decision of the planning commission to approve the specific plans filed by Clyde A. Sargent in behalf of Hillside Builders Inc. for four homes on Beaumont Boulevard and Gordon Way.

They charged that homes already built by Hillside Builders are not in keeping with the standards of the Doelger Homes prevalent in the neighborhood.

"We find it difficult to believe that the planning commission could have approved such obvious disasters, which in turn leads us to believe that Hillside Builders must have misrepresented their intentions . . ." they alleged.

They also alleged that the homes were in violation of Proposition 20, in violation of Doelger's Greenbelt agreement, and that the homes were part of an 80-unit project, being presented piecemeal.

Questioning by the councilmen brought out the fact that the building firm had a total of approximately 75 lots, scattered about in the general area of Fairmont and Edgemar, as well as five additional lots adjacent to the four under consideration. Planner Jim Miller explained that the builder had presented all nine homes at first, to the planning commission, but withdrew five when the commissioners told him he would have to redesign them.

Sargeant alleged that the homes were indeed different from each other, at least on their exteriors; this was denied by Giedzinski who gave the council a plea for planting of large trees around the homes, in order to improve their appearance.

Councilmen ruled that only the four homes were at issue, although Grace McCarthy presented a plea for an overall plan before the remaining homes are taken under discussion.

What seemed like a simple request for a curb cut variance resulted in some drawn-out controversy.

Rod F. Neubert of the Coastside Veterinary Clinic had filed an appeal from the conditions imposed by the planning commission when it approved Neubert's permit for a curb cut less than 10 feet from the intersection of Carmel Avenue and Oceana Boulevard, in Sharp Park. It was part of his plan for an addition to the building.

Neubert based his appeals on six tersely stated grounds: "Undue hardship, illogical planning, unreasonable demands, legalized blackmail, extreme unnecessary expense" and "general grounds because I'm a poor loser."

Councilmen finally approved a series of motions made by Farber, including:

1. Uphold the planning commission's condition that Neubert should put a three-foot-wide planter strip along his Oceana Avenue frontage.

2. Uphold Neubert's appeal to overrule the commission's condition of eliminating parking in front of his building, in favor of a lawn.

The request to hold up building permits until action by the Coastal Conservation Commission came in a letter from Charles B. Kramer, chairman of the Central Coast Regional Coastal Zone Commission.

Farber expressed misgivings over denying a building permit to a person who has complete approval from the city, and finally voted against the proposal in a 3-1 vote.

Kramer's request was backed by Councilman Grace McCarthy, who is vice-chairman of the commission. She explained that its purpose was to coordinate the city and the coastal commission, to protect the builder from unwittingly going ahead and building under the belief that his building permit is his final step, and to protect the city from being accused by the builder of having given him permission to go ahead with his project.

Under the resolution, the city will issue "approval in concept" permits to all builders whose projects it approves, and will then issue the building permit after the coastal commission approves the project. Single-family homes which do not have to go before the planning commission, will simply have their permits withheld, until after action by the coastal commission.

In the public discussion period, councilmen heard an appeal from the owner of a Texaco Station on Linda Mar Blvd. and Coast Highway from a ruling of the planning commission banning rental of trucks and U-hauls in any service station not in a heavy commercial area.

He pleaded that his service benefits not only him but the entire community, since Linda Mar residents would have to drive four miles for rentals of trucks and U-hauls, should he stop renting them himself.

Mayor Aubrey Lumley noted that the time for appealing the planners' action had lapsed. The service station owner explained that he had counted on the U-haul firm appealing, and they did not.

"I'm just speaking for my own rights," he told the councilmen.

Councilmen complained that they had received no report from the planners on the problem. Farber noted that "when we referred this to the planning commission, my intention was to set some procedure for some kind of a special license, based on square footage, for service stations to rent U-hauls." He complained that the planners missed his intention by denying them altogether.

Dick Myers, speaking for the commission, noted that "we spent three long evenings on this." He suggested going over their minutes, or order to find out why they decided to ask the city attorney to begin enforcing the law.

The council voted to hold up enforcement of the law until it has had a chance to study it further themselves.

New Revenues Mean More S.S.F. Budget Calculations

There will be more work on South San Francisco's new 1973-74 foot-high fiscal budget and some progress on the proposed Colma Creek project was made at an adjourned Monday night meeting of the city council.

Finance Director Ed Alario asked that the budget be returned to the staff for re-evaluation and cited several reasons. The council already had reviewed half the budget and had intended to begin the second half Monday.

The council also took an official deep breath for its Wednesday public hearing before the county Board of Supervisors on the Colma Creek flood control project costs. The council decided to plunge ahead with an $8.1 million plan, feeling it would be more effective in the long run than a $5.3 million alternate proposal.

South San Francisco taxpayers apparently will pick up 66.2 per cent of the cost regardless of the plan. The project would be in cooperation with San Bruno, Daly City and Pacifica. City Manager Gale Dreisbach recommended the more expensive plan to the South San Francisco council.

Concerning the budget, Alario told the council that the city staff has learned of several revenues not originally considered when the budget first was drafted. In addition, there is an increase in assessed property valuation; parks and recreation are revising their budget "completely"; the staff has a better picture now of capital improvement needs; approximately $400,000 in revenue sharing is shown in the proposed operating budget and should instead be placed in capital improvements budget must be added.

Alario's main concern was seeking council's approval to set aside SSF's revenue sharing funds for capital improvements use which they eventually did agree to.

The budget changes will take from one week to 10 days and will be before the council immediately in a study session Wednesday, July 18.

"My basic concern is revenue sharing," Alario contended. He said the funds should not be in the general budget used for "one shot things." He felt they instead should be used for non-obligatory purposes which will not carry over from year to year but will serve a decisive immediate purpose. He declared the funds legally can be used anyway a city sees fit but that the United States Congress looks unfavorably on cities that use it to reduce the general tax rate. Alario claimed most cities are using their share for capital improvements.

"It can be used to reduce the tax rate if you can prove to the council that we have everything in capital improvements necessary," he offered. However, he stressed revenue sharing can be cut off at anytime unexpectedly. He also said use of the funds for Colma Creek would be perfectly within the limits of its intened purpose.

Mayor Warren Steinkamp added it is clear the government did not wish to appropriate the funds for any particular purpose but rather for use as the individual cities see fit.

Councilman William Borba stated his feelings that the funds should go directly to Colma Creek as the number one project in the minds of taxpayers.

"Colma Creek is where all that surface money should go," he declared.

Borba will make a presentation to he supervisors tomorrow noting that the SSF share of 66.2 per cent of the Colma Creek bill is too much. He said he would like to see a ratio which allows zones that are flooded to pay the most and those flooded the least to pay the least.

He added he is expecting some challenge from Daly City representatives.

However, Dreisbach reminded Borba his stand is not one which the council has adopted as a whole and that the SSF contingent can not go to the meeting unprepared with their challenges.

"When we are divided we are vulnerable by other agencies in the watershed," the city manager said.

Councilman Terry Mirri contended that the city is trapped in a "political situation" and that all the councilmen want the lowest possible tax rate but must be careful in steps toward confronting the supervisors.

"We're dealing with dynamite, political dynamite," Mirri asserted. He told Borba if he says the wrong things to the board the citizens in SSF could end up paying for the entire project.

Dresibach warned that all the councilmen who attend should be prepared with their strategy. The supervisors are not set to hold an official public hearing until Steptember but if a $5.3 million project is originally accepted and a need for the $8.1 million is seen later in September, SSF possibly could be forced to pay that balance. Tomorrow's meet is an attempt to determine the desires of individual cities.

The city manager said he feels the $5.3 million figure is "whistlin' Dixie."

"We've got homework to do before this hearing," he deemed. He said the board does listen to SSF in this aspect in view of the increasing flooding problems.

The board adopted a suggestion by Dreisbach that the $8.1 million cost be urged so that the city doesn't have to wait until September to be "railroaded" by an increase.

Dreisbach also refuted reports that the increase in the proposed budget is 30 per cent over last year's. Although it appears to be $2,263,764 more than the 1972-73 figure, the budget does not account for large profits in last year's budget. Much revenue was brought in during the 1972-73 fiscal year which is not accounted for in the budget expenditures, Dreisbach said.

Robbery at D.C. Market

The Starlite Market on Mission Street in Daly City was held up yesterday morning by a man wearing a ski mask and armed with a small automatic pistol.

Police suspect the gunman, who talked with a southern accent, stayed in the market overnight, awaiting the opening of the supermarket and the arrival of employes the following morning.

The robber, described as white, five-feet, six-inches, weighing between 155-160 pounds, and wearing a blue ski mask, accosted an unidentified employe of the market shortly after 8 a.m. and ordered him to hand over all the store's cash.

The amount of the loss has not been determined, police said.

Nab Two for TV Burglary

Two South County youths were arrested by South San Francisco police Monday and charged with burglary at the South San Francisco Holiday Inn.

Booked were Michael Barnachea, East Palo Alto, and Henry Johnson, Palo Alto, both 20.

Police, who said the alertness of the employes at the hotel aided in the apprehension, reported that at the time of the arrest they found a hotel television set in a pickup belonging to the arrested youths.

The arrest was made about 5 a.m. after a short chase into San Bruno, police said.

Escapee Caught In Daly City

A murder suspect who walked out of city prison in San Francisco during the weekend using another man's name was apprehended in Daly City by a team of San Francisco and South San Francisco police about 5 p.m. Monday.

Otis Deland Wilkerson of 239 A St., South San Francisco, was arrested at a service station at the corner of School and Mission streets after he had gone to a nearby drive-in restaurant to pick up an order of fried chicken.

Mitchell, Other Notables Slated for Canada College

Dr. Edgar Mitchell, engineer, test pilot, management specialist and former astronaut, is one of five renowned individuals scheduled to make personal appearances in Canada College's Community Services program this fall.

The program was approved by the San Mateo Community College Board of Trustees at a recent meeting. According to Ruth Nagler, director of community services, the board endorsed 15 credit courses and 2 non-credit courses.

Internationally known mime, Robert Shields and his wife-partner-mime, Lorene Yarnell, will perform Sept. 20. Teamed since their marriage in 1972, in a highly publicized, pantomime ceremony in San Francisco's Union Square, the duo will give a full-length performance in which they mix fantasy with everyday life.

Mitchell will lecture Oct. 5 on the topic, "Adventure in Consciousness." Since his retirement from the Navy in 1972 Mitchell has devoted his time to the establishment of a corporation to research and develop human potential.

The appearance of Mitchell will be preceded by "Future Fare," a week of exhibits, lectures, discussions and films, coordinated by faculty, students and community members, focusing on the present and future state of our society.

Black feminist leader and lawyer, Florynce Kennedy, will speak on the campus Nov. 13. One of the founders of the National Organization for Women and Feminist Party under, Ms. Kennedy is known for her hard-hitting, humorous approach to the problems of women and minority groups.

Hugh Lynn Cayce, director of the Association for Research and Enlightenment, will follow his Spring, 1973, appearance on the campus with a return engagement. He will speak on "Healing and the Whole Person."

Because many of last year's personality appearances were sell-outs, Mrs. Nagler urges interested parties to order tickets well in advance.

Other Community Service programs for the fall are short courses and one- and two-day seminars. Several short courses are designed to help people relate to themselves and others in a more positive way. "Don't Grow Old — Grow," aimde at those in the second half of life, recognizes that an alternative to aging should encompass enjoying, developing and contributing.

The series, "Death Education: Preparation for Living," proposes to change the view that death is something one does not talk about. Students taking the course, "Conflict: Essential for Change," will learn how conflict may be used in positive and appropriate ways in the human relationship.

Other courses that focus on human values are "Freedom—A Way of Life," "Transactional Analysis," and "Between a Man and a Woman."

A number of courses are designed for parents, teachers, school personnel and others working with children. One series will present new approaches for helping children who are handicapped for any reason. Others include a teaching assistant program and instruction for teaching children subjects such as haiku poetry, creative stitchery and ecology of the Peninsula. One course will cover art for bi-lingual teachers and another, help for parents and grandparents in understanding the 15-23 age group.

Old favorites returning to the program include stained glass window making, gourmet cooking, backpacking and Europe a la carte.

To purchase tickets, to be placed on the mailing list for the Community Services Fall flyer or for additional information write Canada College Community Services, 4200 Farm Hill Blvd., Redwood City, 94061.

SSF Arrests 3 'Tourists'

Three young Iowans who have been enjoying America's countryside in a car allegedly rented with a stolen identification, and staying in Holiday Inns without paying, have been arrested by South San Francisco authorities.

Booked on charges of "defrauding an innkeeper" and contributing to the delinquency of minors was 18-year-old Robert West. He is in County Jail. His two companions, both 15-year-old girls, are at Hillcrest Juvenile Hall awaiting transportation back to Iowa, police said.

According to police, the department last Tuesday received a call that three subjects had registered at the South San Francisco Holiday Inn using stolen identifications.

Three days earlier, police said, the same identifications were used in Livermore, where the suspects had left without paying. This tactic, according to police, had been used from Iowa to California.

Mail Stolen In San Bruno

San Bruno police are seeking the whereabouts of two male suspects reportedly seen near the intersection of Jenevein and Maple Avenues last Tuesday where a mail delivery van had assorted mail taker. from it, social security checks.

Police said that a portion of the stolen mail was recovered in Daly City behind a grocery store in a trash bin.

Several witnesses told police they saw two young black men in the area. According to reports, a suspect opened the van door and removed two mail trays. The pair then drove off in a late model car, police said.

Two Arrested

Brisbane police and California Highway Patrol officers last week arrested two men on charges of carrying concealed weapons and having a loaded firearm in their car.

Officer John Santaro said the pair, Bennie Stewart, 29, of Los Angeles, and Vin Sawyer Smith, 29, of 666 Edgewater St., Apt. 1, Foster City, were arrested on the gun charges after police allegedly found a .22-caliber Derringer and .25-caliber automatic in their possession during a routine traffic stop by the Highway Patrol.

SSF Suspect Faces Trial

A July 13 date was set by South San Francisco Municipal Judge Walter P. Capaccioli for the preliminary hearing of Richard William Pape, charged with burglary.

He was arrested in connection with the burglary of Karin's Texaco Service Station at 683 San Bruno Ave., San Bruno, on June 16, according to court aides. Pape pleaded not guilty to the charge when he appeared in Judge Capaccioli's court Thursday.

JESD Hires Counsel in Split Vote

The new Jefferson Elementary School Board, still split in most decisions, Friday night moved toward hiring legal counsel in two cases — one to draft policies for the district and the other to advise them on legal matters in general.

It was trustee David Parker's first regular meeting and started and ended in closed door sessions.

The first secret meeting started at 7 p.m., an hour before the regularly scheduled meeting, and adjourned until 10:30 p.m. when the five trustees went back behind closed doors.

At the conclusion of the 7 p.m. meeting it was announced, after a 3-2 vote with trustees Edward Tomasello and James Cranna opposing, that Keith Breon a former deputy district attorney be hired at $50 per hour (maximum $500) to draft policies for the district.

The decision to hire Breon, considered knowledgeable in school district matters, came in the wake of the highly critical state audit report, released publicly late in June.

Breon, as deputy San Mateo County district attorney, has in the past written opinions concerning operational procedures of the district.

Tomasello said he opposed the hiring of Breon on the grounds the district attorney's office had not refused to aid the district in writting policy and the service of this elected office was free.

"I do question this (hiring). The district attorney has an obligation (to the district," Tomasello said.

But trustee Beverly Forrester said that the district has had "some difficulty in formulating policy development."

She later explained the District Attorney's Office "isn't going to babysit us."

In other action, the board voted unanimously to invite the State's senior auditor, Robert Hamric, to re-appear before that body to answer questions that have arisen as a result of the special audit completed earlier this year in the JESD.

Chairman Adams, in reviewing the presentation of the audit by Hamric, said it appeared to be a "thorough examination of the district."

Groups Censure Local MD's Ouster

Two powerful national psychiatric associations have "censured" the San Mateo County Mental Health Division for its ouster of psychiatrist Donald Goldmacher, and urged he be reinstated.

The signatures were gathered at the American Orthopsychiatric Assn. meeting in New York City, and at the American Psychiatric Assn. meeting in Honolulu, according to Dr. Paul Lowinger, of Detroit, Mich.

The petition, signed by 32 persons, says: "We protest the dismissal of Goldmacher. The attempt to prevent him from speaking publically on methadone maintenance is a denial of rights under the First Amendment.

"The abrogation of the right of a professional to treat his community and its members is another health and human right that is being denied to Dr. Goldmacher and his clients.

"The institutional demand that the patient be adjusted to the system rather than struggle against its inequities has been properly rejected by Goldmacher. We censure the San Mateo County Mental Health Division and call upon (it) to restore Goldmacher to his position."

Copies of the petition were sent to Pickett, his top aides, and the County Board of Supervisors.

Goldmacher contends he was fired because of his views, and that his performance rating by superiors was made to relieve him of his position in the South County.

Officials for the Mental Health Division contend that's untrue, and that Goldmacher was terminated because of his work habits.

Officials contend that all employes are free to speak in public.

The matter presently is before the County Civil Service Commission on appeal by Goldmacher. A hearing is scheduled for July 19.

Tame Coyote Finds Home

A tame coyote named Keeper has stolen the hearts of all who have met him, especially Boone Naar, head keeper at Marine World-Africa USA where Keeper has found a home.

Recently presented to Marine World by the Peninsula Humane Society, Keeper likes to sit on Naar's lap and watch television in the evening. The Humane Society asked Marine World to take the animal because they knew that Keeper would be well taken care of and given a good home.

Originally a pet, the Foster City family who had him as a pup found that Keeper, as any wild animal, could not adjust to city life. At Marine World-Africa USA, Keeper will have lots of room and friends, be a star attraction at the Ecology Theatre, and also be able to drop in to Naar's place for an evening of TV.

Senate Bill 500 Would Aid Colma Creek Work

North County Assemblyman Lou Papan Thursday night at a meeting of the North San Mateo County Council of Cities in San Bruno had some encouraging words for several of the cities in his constituency.

According to Papan, Senate Bill 500 is expected to be signed soon by Governor Ronald Reagan. This bill would allow the Colma Creek Flood Control District to be exempt from Senate Bill 90, which has put a ceiling on property tax rates.

Papan noted that with this bill, Colma Creek, which is one of the most studied items in San Mateo County, "will be behind us." Senate Bill 500 would allow maximum failing to help finance a flood central project.

While Senate Bill 500, and the Colma Creek situation has been a primary concern to South San Francisco, Papan also had an interesting comment on his proposed legislation that would affect Daly City's Cow Palace.

He said "the first hurdle" in allowing Daly City to tax the Cow Palace has been cleared in that a bill he has introduced is through the first committee.

"There is some question as to whether the governor will sign it," noted Papan. "But I will arrange a meeting (with the governor) to try to convince him he should sign it."

Papan also noted that since the redistricting bill, which would have put Pacifica out of San Mateo County representation, failed, he would, in a "complete change of position for me," testify Friday that the San Mateo County San Francisco County line should remain intact.

The assemblyman said also that he intends to pursue the construction of a yacht harbor in Pacifica, pointing out that Pacifica is in dire need of it for a tax base.

Papan said that he had not received much correspondence from San Bruno, but that San Bruno Councilman George Corey has "kept me apprised" of the city's problems.

Jail Man on 68 Warrants

San Bruno police, while investigating a report of a family fight, Saturday arrested a San Franciscan wanted for 68 outstanding San Francisco traffic warrants totaling $2,186.

Booked into San Mateo County Jail in Redwood City was Warren Wing Hom, 26, who gave his profession as (unemployed) recreation director. The arrest was made at 225 San Benito.

The warrants included one for $1,000. The rest were mainly for $10 and $21.

Bruno Police Best Firemen

In the annual Fourth of July picnic and games between San Bruno's public service departments at San Bruno City Park, the policemen were victorious over the city's firemen, defeating the firefighters both in softball and horseshoes, a police spokesman happily reported.

Check 2 for S.C. Holdup

Two Oakland men caught in San Leandro Saturday and charged with 10 counts of armed robbery are prime suspects in the robbery of the Morris Plan of California in San Carlos last month, Detective Tom Bowers said today.

Held in the San Leandro City Jail in lieu of $125,000 bail are Woodard J. Elder, 31, and Edward R. Henry, 28.

Bowers said authorities will show pictures of the suspects to three employes of the Morris Plan, who were tied up last June 21. The thieves stole $372.

Bowers said a score of savings and loan institutions have been robbery targets in the Bay Area during recent weeks. Nearly all of the "hits" were at 1:35 p.m., he said.

New San Mateo Police Captain

Lt. Gordon Hall has been appointed to the rank of captain of the San Mateo police department, Chief Henry C. Kohnen announced today. Hall will fill the vacancy created by the retirement of Capt. Clarence Silva, effective July 1.

The appointment is first of a number expected to take place this month and next as a sweeping retirement of high officers — including even the chief — occurs.

Chief Kohnen is expected to retire as soon as a new is selected, authorities said today.

Deputy Chief William Andreason will retire July 15.

The appointment of Hall brings the force to a full strength of three captains. Hall will be in charge of the patrol division working the 7 p.m. to 3 a.m. shift.

Other captains are Stanley Cohelan, in charge of the detective bureau and Howard Trickett, in charge of general services.

A vacancy is thus created in the lieutenancies. Presently on duty are Lt. Harold Bogan, who has been handling both the 4 p.m. to midnight patrol, plus coordination of security for College of San Mateo; Lt. Richard St. Clair, second in charge of the Detective Bureau, and Lt. John Cameron, in charge of the midnight patrol.

Also up for appointment is a sergeant, created when Det. Sgt. John Borcherding left July 1. There are 18 sergeants. Tests for lieutenant and sergeant are scheduled next week.

There will be a number of vacancies created with retirement of four patrolmen. They are Howard Darknell, July 1; James Winslow, June 20; John Pawson, July 15 and Bert Sellers, July 31.

Capt. Hall was appointed to the police department January 16, 1950.

Hall was promoted to sergeant February 1, 1953 and to lieutenant, January 1, 1968.

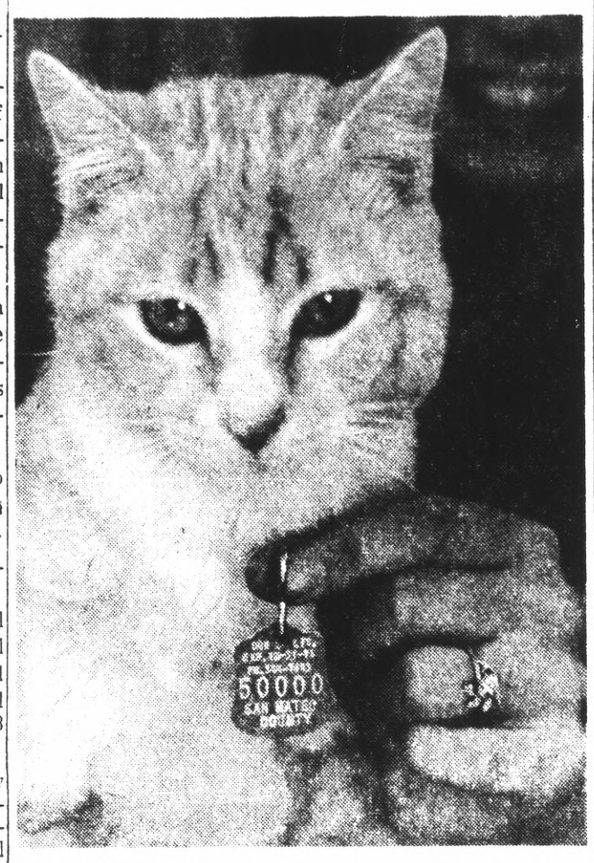
Capt. Hall holds a bachelor of arts in sociology degree from San Francisco State, and a Peace Officers Standards & Training (POST) Management Certificate. Married to Jacqueline Hall, he has a son, Kevin, and a daughter, Roberta. They reside at 1745 Lake St., San Mateo.

Heads Cities

Brisbane Councilman William Lawrence Friday night was named chairman for the year of the North San Mateo County Council of Cities. Brisbane City Manager Gene Aiello will serve as secretary to the North County body.

Lawrence succeeds South San Francisco Mayor Warren Steinkamp. In relinquishing the gavel, Steinkamp warned that "we have major problems" and should "face up to the challenge and address them head on."

Congressman Leo Ryan, scheduled to speak on the "current events in Washington," did not appear at the meeting.



FETED FELINE—It wasn't happenstance that this cat named Robin was issued the county's 50,000th dog license. His master is Al Denison, administrative manager of the Coyote Point Shelter of the Peninsula Humane Society. Denison said the idea was to dramatize the desirability of licensing cats.

Bruno-S.S.F. Vote July 20

The target area election for EOC commissioners in the South San Francisco-San Bruno target area were reopened July 5. There will be 15 days for people to petition to be a candidate.

The elections will be July 20 at the South San Francisco-San Bruno Information Center. Persons intersted in being a candidate may pick up petition at the Information Center, 8 Linden Avenue, South San Francisco, or at the EOC, 621 Middlefield Road, Redwood City.

The target area representative will serve as representative to the low income in South San Francisco-San Bruno on the EOC Commission which is the anti-poverty agency of the county.

Further information may be had by calling 873-7580.

San Bruno Cleanup

The San Bruno Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the California National Guard's 2632nd Transportation Company, San Bruno Park and Recreation Department and the San Bruno Park School District will hold a city cleanup and litter pickup campaign on Saturday, July 28.

The local National Guard Company will furnish trucks for pickup and men for supervision.

Major manpower for the campaign will be children who participate in the Summer playground program at various schools in the city.

Campaign chairman Hank Siddall stated "we also want many adults in the community to join up and help make San Bruno the cleanest city in the state."

S.S.F. Burglary

The South San Francisco Elks Club, 920 Stonegate Drive, was burglarized Sunday night of an undetermined amount of cash, police said.

According to police, someone gained entry by smashing open a rear window and took money from the bar area and from an office safe.

Coast Agency Rejects Two Pacifica Projects

Two major projects which were to have been built in the Sharp Park area of Pacifica were turned down Thursday on appeals to the California Coastal Zone Conservation Commission.

The turndown took place at the first business meeting of the statewide board to be held in San Mateo County. The meeting took place at the Hilton Inn at San Francisco Airport.

The 12-man commission headed by San Mateo County resident Melvin B. Lane, voted against appeals by the Edenvale Construction Co. which wanted to build a 60-unit apartment complex and Mario Torrigino of the Coastside Scavenger Co., who wanted to build a solid waste transfer station.

Both projects had been previously approved by the Pacifica City Council but denied by the Central Coast Regional Commission, headquartered in Santa Cruz.

These were the only two San Mateo County projects considered in an agenda of appeals which ranged from Eureka to San Diego. Although a delegation of about a dozen Pacifica residents was present in the packed meeting, major interest centered around two major San Francisco coastal projects.

The commissioners braved the wrath of a group of conservation organizations to approve both San Francisco projects.

They approved unanimously a condominium project and shopping center proposed for the site of Playland at the Beach, and a 238-unit townhouse and condominium apartment project to be built near the intersection of Lake Merced Boulevard and Brotherhood Way.

Executive Director Joseph E. Bodovitz had recommended denial of both of the Sharp Park projects.

He based his recommendation against the 60-unit Edenvale Apartment project on the bulk and density of the proposed building, and the cumulative impact of a row of similar buildings on similar lots across the street from the Sharp Park Beach.

"A wall of such buildings would be clearly inconsistent with the findings and objectives of the Coastal Zone Act. If this application were approved, there would be little reason for denying similar buildings on similar property," Bodovitz said.

He noted that the surrounding area is mainly single-family homes, duplexes and light commercial uses along Palmetto Avenue. He added that the many vacant lots in the area gave it a great potential for growth and that the project could stimulate greater density.

Architect Ethan Jennings, speaking for Edanvale, said that the project was next to the new sewer plant and that there are already mainly apartments in the area. He showed Pacifica's general plan, calling for high density in the area. He pointed out that his project had small apartments and that 83 units were allowed. The site could legally hold 372 persons; it would only hold 175 persons. He pointed out the 60 per cent open space, including 24 per cent planted area.

The commission turned him down unanimously.

Bodovitz expressed sympathy for the scavenger company's problem of locating its transfer station. However, he felt that a block away from the beach and "given the probable goal of the commission's planning to encourage low and moderate-cost housing in the coastal zone—or at least not to remove such housing as now exists in relatively low price ranges," he found the project inconsistent with Proposition 20.

Richard Whitmore, attorney for the scavenger firm, testified that wherever the transfer station is built, it would have to go in somewhere in the coastal zone. The contract with the Daly City dump will run out in two years, but it would take time to build the station. He pointed out the proximity of the station to the garbage firm's garage and to the city's new sewer plant.

The project, he added, would remove no low-cost housing; the lot is vacant.

Mario Torrigino testified about his futile efforts to obtain another site. The Sharp Park Golf Course refuses to sell him land; the Rockaway Motel plans to expand, and four other landowners likewise turned him down, he said.

Commissioners expressed the feeling that transfer stations should be built on a regional basis rather than city by city. The commission denied the appeal 9 to 3.

During a public discussion period, several members of the audience objected to the commission's current procedure in which only the developer is allowed to speak in an appeal.

Lane explained that the developer, who is given just five minutes, has the burden of proof; the commission and its staff represent the public's interest.

Brisbane Thefts Land 2 in Jail

Brisbane police last week were investigating what may be a large scale illicit drug or bomb manufacturing operation.

Sergeant John Majka said investigators were not exactly sure what they do have "until we progress further in this matter."

The matter came to light with the arrest of two out-of-town men who allegedly picked up chemicals at the Van Waters & Rogers Chemical Company in Brisbane at least five times.

There was some disagreement on just what the chemicals taken—iodine crystals and ether—could be used for.

Some chemists said certain types of bombs use the ingredients.

Others point out ether is a "common solvent" and can be used in manufacturing illicit drugs—particularly amphetamines.

All agree, however, that in each case other chemicals must be included in the formula.

For example, iodine crystals may be used in making a bomb, but only in conjunction with another chemical.

San Mateo County criminalist Paul Daugherty explained the process of using iodine crystals to The Times, but asked all ingredients not be made public.

Police began their full scale investigation of the matter last Monday after receiving a call from a Van Waters official who told them the company had received complaints from the Dunn Chemical Company for being billed for chemicals they never got.

According to Sergeant Majka, the billings for iodine crystals and ether started last May.

Since that time, there have been about six pickups of the items—usually by two men.

The men would represent themselves as being from the Dunn Chemical Company. Van Waters Company billed Dunn for the materials but on checking out the billings the alleged recipient of the deliveries—Dunn—discovered they never received the goods.

Police were called and a stakeout of the company began earlier this week.

Last Tuesday, Paul Lomicelo 22, an unemployed iron worker from New York City, and Eldon Beyerle, 26, a Hollywood chiropractor, were arrested after they allegedly loaded some $550 worth of iodine crystals and ether into their foreign compact car at the Van Waters plant.

Where they were taking the chemicals, and for what purpose, has not been determined, Sergeant Majka said.

Both men are charged with grand theft.

Jeff Trustee Board Hires An Attorney

The Jefferson Elementary School District Board of Trustees, in a 3-2 vote, Saturday decided to hire an Oakland attorney as administrative advisor at $50 per hour.

With Trustees James Granna and Edward Tomasello dissenting, the board majority hired William Johnston under Section 945 of the state's Education Code.

This section provides for the hiring of outside counsel to advise on legal matters and, if necessary, to prepare charges against persons in the district. But what the attorney's duties will be no one inside the district will say at this time.

And while the district may hire such legal aid to draft charges, the attorney can only pursue matters up to, but not including, actual litigation.

The hiring of Johnston was seen as a first step in breaking the district away from the San Mateo County District Attorney's Office.

Nell Norton

Good morning, good cooks.

Last week's column ended on a note of mystery. What did you do with the Tangy Apple Square after you spread the sour cream mixture over the top? You baked it. Just to get it straightened out properly, here is the recipe from the beginning.

TANGY APPLE SQUARE

½ cup margarine
½ cup light brown sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup flour
1 can Apple Pie Filling, 20 ozs.
1 can Lemon Pie Filling, 20 ozs.
1 cup dairy sour cream
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 tablespoons granulated sugar

Combine the half cup margarine, half cup sugar, one teaspoon vanilla and one cup flour. Cut through the mixture with pastry blender or two knives until it resembles coarse meal. Put in greased 9 x 9-inch pan. Spread apple pie filling over crust, next carefully spread lemon pie filling over apples. Mix the one cup sour cream with the three tablespoons sugar, one teaspoon vanilla and spread over lemon filling. Bake at 350 degrees for 35 minutes

Serves 9 to 12.

This easy and quick casserole was created by a contestant in a recent Pillsbury Bake-Off. A salmon loaf, topped with canned tomato, cheese and a no-fail fluffy topping. Only 45 minutes preparation is involved in this tasty main dish casserole.

SALMON FLUFF CASSEROLE

2 cups (16-oz. can) drained salmon
1-3 cup (8) finely crushed saltine crackers
1-3 cup (1 small) chopped onion or 1 tablespoon instant minced onion
1 teaspoon salt
teaspoon pepper
1-3 cup milk
1 egg
1 can (14½ oz.) sliced baby tomatoes, drained
1 cup (4 oz. pkg.) shredded Cheddar or American cheese
TOPPING
3 eggs
½ cup all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¾ cup dairy sour cream

In large mixing bowl combine the two cups salmon, one-third cup each crackers and onion, one teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, one third cup milk and egg. Mix well. Lightly press mixture into prepared pan. Place drained tomato slices on salmon mixture, sprinkle with one cup cheese. Prepare topping: pour over cheese, spreading to cover. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 to 35 minutes until golden brown

Let stand 5 minutes before serving. Serve hot. Serves 6 to 8.

TOPPING

How does one concerned woman, frustrated by a sense of inadequancy and dismayed by the policies of politics and politicians, go about developing a feeling of being enlightened and gaining confidence in her ability to help mold and shape the course of events?

For approximately 100 residents of the North Peninsula area the answer has been to join the League of Women Voters.

In 1965 a core group of 35 women determined that the needs of women in Daly City, Pacifica, San Bruno, South San Francisco, Colma and Brisbane were sufficiently different from the needs of women in San Francisco or the central sector of San Mateo county to warrant the establishment of a separate league.

THE ORIGINAL 35 formed a preprovisional league and began work on the primary research project, a study called Know Your Town. By the time the study was completed, and the evolving unit was ready for full membership in the League, a membership of 100 could be reported.

According to Mrs. Michael Ruane, who provided all the material on the League of Women Voters of North San Mateo County, the league is a non-profit volunteer organization whose purpose is to encourage the informed and active participation of all citizens in government and politics. There is no partisanship and political parties and candidates are not supported by league units.

To accomplish the basic goals of the organization the work is broken down into two sections, one is "service" and the other "program." The service portion of the work is administrative. Units sponsor candidates' nights for primary and general elections and provide non-partisan moderators for forums sponsored by other groups.

During the past year the local unit has distributed 8000 copies of election issue pro and con material and supplied numerous speakers on voting and governmental process. In addition this unit has produced television programs on candidates and issues in both English and Spanish and worked to promote understanding of county government through wide distribution of a booklet entitled Guide to San Mateo County Government.

AS VITAL as the service portion of the program is, it is less exciting that the portion called "program," for program is the designation of that part of the overall project in which the members study vital government issues. Since the league operates on three levels and all members are part of the California League of Women Voters and the League of Women Voters of the United States, there are studies on all three levels of government.

So it is that the North San Mateo County group is studying city and county boards and commissions on the local level and, at the state level, attempting to develop new ways to carry out the present legislative goals by developing new techniques for lobbying and building public support. On the national level the local league will continue to participate in a two-year study of solid waste and human resource studies and environmental issues.

Mrs. Ruane was delighted to report that the league members are enthusiastic about putting the program to work and, under the league's solid waste position, they staffed the Pacifica Ecology Center and moved to insure the continued operation of the Pacifica Recycling Center by managing the center for a day. Additionally a letter was sent to the Coastal Zone Conservation Commission requesting a permit for a transfer station in Pacifica.

THE LEAGUE meets regularly on a twice monthly schedule. Meetings include study sessions, workshops, some films and occasional speakers. Morning meetings, with baby sitters available on the site, are in Daly City Tuesdays, Wednesdays in Pacifica and Thursdays in San Bruno. One evening meeting section is also held.

Guests and prospective members are welcome and transportation is available to any interested person who calls 355-4408.

In addition to the twice monthly meetings there are four general meetings each year at which time all the sections meet together, usually for a speaker. One meeting is the annual business session.

Regular business is conducted by the board of directors. Board meetings are held each month. Serving on the current board are Mrs. Richard Schwartz, Mrs. Donald Fleming and Mrs. John Massen of Daly City, Mrs. Heinot Hintereder and Mrs. Ruane of San Bruno and Mrs. Mark Barger and Mrs. Robert Wills of Pacifica.

Mrs. Donald Jacobberger of South San Francisco is the local league president; Mrs. Hugo Holmstrum, Pacifica, vice president; Mrs. John Walker, Daly City, vice president; Mrs. Daniel Pass, South San Francisco, secretary; and Mrs. Robert Doughtry of San Bruno, treasurer. Mrs. Robert Young is the retiring president.

Mrs. Jacobberger will serve for two years. She was the 1972 voter service chairman, treasurer, first vice president and the league's delegate to the national convention in Atlanta, Ga. She also has been the president of the P-TA at Foxridge school in South San Francisco and is a member of the Notre Dame College Alumnae Association and is a religious education teacher in South San Francisco.

Women interested in learning more about the league may call Mrs. Ruane, 589-5798, or speak with any of the officers or directors.

Bruno Peak Grass Fire

It was the same old story for Divison of Forestry firemen Friday night as they again traveled to San Bruno Mountain to put out a grass and brush fire which burned a 35-acre area just uphill from South San Francisco.

The 10 p.m. fire was near Hillside and Holly drives, almost adjacent to the location of a 50-acre fire the night before. Twenty firemen were on the scene until 1 a.m. Saturday.

It was the 19th fire on San Bruno Mountain this year and, as in most of the earlier blazes, was of incendiary origin, firemen reported.

Planned activities will include such things as arts and crafts, music, games, stories and dramatic play. S.S.F. Police Win Grants For Training

South San Francisco Police Chief Sal Rosano last week tallied up the money being spent on training police officers and came up with a figure of $24,733, for the fiscal year ending June 30.

Actually, this represents the money received from a series of Federal grants under the program of the Commission on Peace Officer Standards and Training (POST). Under this program, the city is reimbursed for its training programs; sometimes wholly, sometimes just in part.

The year before, South San Francisco received just $10,967; the year before, $5643. In 1969-70, South San Francisco received just $482.

A total of 62 officers received 3517 hours of training during the past fiscal year, averaging 57 hours apiece. Two officers were sent to the University of Southern California for a 10-week delinquency control institute program.

Most of the courses are three to five day programs. Most common courses include advance officer's course, human development seminar, driver training course, middle management courses and traffic program management institute. Others included basic academy, supervisory schools, motorcycle training course, auto theft investigator's course, civil disorder management course, criminal justice computer analysis course, and narcotics and drug institute.

The funds pay for the officers' tuition, plus expenses. Some courses are required, many of those are courses which Chief Rosano felt would enhance officers' effectiveness.

D.C. Firemen Warn About Summer Fire

The Daly City Fire Department has issued a warning to local homeowners on the increasing dangers of fires at this time of the year.

Battalion Chief John Roy, in his statement on the subject, said:

"Fire is a great American obliterator. It surpasses in its constant toll of life and property any of the devastations of nature.

"It kills more men than the battles of war. In the last 25 years more Americans were burned to death than fell in World War II, Korean and Vietnam wars.

"In 30 years more children and grownups died playing with fireworks celebrating the Declaration of Independence, than there were colonists killed in the revolution itself.

"And with the U.S. thinking of a cancer cure, it is pertinent to point out one enlightening fact: The property loss from fire in the last 12 years could provide enough money to the point of possible supremacy of this dreaded disease.

"Think of a home fire somewhere in the country every one and one-half minutes, on the average. Fix firmly in your mind the fact that about once every 50 minutes some person is dying the most horrible of all deaths — death by fire; and 34 will be injured, some of them crippled or disfigured for life."

Guilty Plea In Sex Case

South San Francisco resident Roy George Meaney, 823 Hemlock Ave., pleaded guilty in Northern Judicial District Court Friday to charges stemming from sex offenses involving two girls under 14 years of age.

His preliminary hearing was held in the court of Municipal Judge Charles Becker.

According to court aides he pleaded guilty to unlawful sexual intercourse and possession of marijuana, both felonies. He will now be considered for a program for mentally disordered sexual offenders, according to the district attorney's office.

Bruno Left-Turn Controversy Flares

By BOB PETERSON

By almost any standards San Brunan Dan Comaroto would be considered a conscientious civic volunteer.

But right now, the city's Traffic Safety Committee chairman feels he's being "crucified" for performing his committee duties.

It all has to do with a committee recommendation to halt the left turns onto and off on Camino Plaza at San Bruno Avenue, an intersection the Traffic Safety Committee says is an unnecessary cause of "rear-ender" accidents.

Comaroto's consternation peaked when a mysterious "memo to the files" of the G.W. Williams Co. of Belmont was hand delivered in sealed envelopes to San Bruno councilmen at their June 11 meeting.

Slated for that meeting was an informal hearing to consider elimination of left turns from San Bruno Avenue to Camino Plaza by use of a median divider on San Bruno Avenue.

However, upon receipt of the mysterious "memo" the council called a hasty personnel session, after which they decided to continue the informal hearing until next Monday's regular council meeting.

Comaroto says that "memo" presents his actions as Traffic Safety Committee chairman in a very unfavorable light. He would not reveal the specific contents of the "memo," which reportedly also makes mention of City Engineer Leo Van Dusen and Police Department Lt. Hugh Fraser's position in the left-turn controversy.

"I feel I'm being crucified by G. W. Williams," said Comaroto, who was instructed by the council to answer in writing within three days apparent charges made in the G. W. Williams "memo."

Neither Lt. Fraser nor Van Dusen would comment on the "memo" saying that they had not seen it. But both said they were firm in their belief that left turns ought to be eliminated at the Camino Plaza-San Bruno Avenue intersection.

Contacted about the mysterious "memo," G. W. Williams Sr. said, "I don't think I want to comment on that. I don't care to go into the contents."

He did say that closing off Camino Plaza would be very drastic on a commercial street.

This is the intensity the friction of safety versus economics has reached in a now 3-year battle.

The Traffic Safety Committee claims that stopping left turns with a raised divider on San Bruno Avenue would not only prevent accidents, it would mean the state would approve installation of left turn traffic signal arrows at the El Camino Real-San Bruno Avenue intersection.

Such signals would allow regulated left turns onto El Camino Real from San Bruno Avenue. These turns are now made catch-as-catch-can when an opening appears. And when left turns are being made onto Camino Plaza from San Bruno Avenue, cars are sometimes stacked up back across the El Camino Real intersection.

Each time in the past that the city's traffic board has submitted its recommendation to the city council, the G. W. Williams Co., as majority property owner on Camino Plaza, has successfully fought the installation of a raised divider, saying such restriction would be economically disastrous to businesses along Camino Plaza.

In the past month raised center dividers have been installed along San Bruno Avenue, from El Camino Real on up to Junipero Serra, but left conspicuously missing was a divider section at the Camino Plaza intersection.

Admitting a possibly temporary "confusion," the Traffic Safety Committee position is that it would be only a matter of changing driving habits. Those who shop in that area know how to get there, it was pointed out.

Possibly one of the most frequented facilities on that block is the U.S. Post Office. Postmaster Don Risso, commenting on the safety of the intersection, said, "It does cause accidents.

"We (at the post office) discourage the use of the left tur off Camino Plaza," said Risso. "Too many people don't observe that 'Keep Clear' warning sign painted on the roadway. It is a miserable spot to make a turn."

On the other hand, Lyon's Restaurant, located at the corner of Camino Plaza and San Bruno Avenue, claims that instituting the no-left-turn would kill 25 per cent of its business.

"The loss of gross sales, in this amount, would turn our restaurant into an unprofitable unit that could well result in our closing," said a letter from Marvin M. Alldaffer of the Lyon's chain.

Pros and cons on the issue are by now becoming voluminous — but always boiling down to "safety vs. economics."

That was the case at a special hearing before the Traffic Safety Committee on April 24 that possibly led to the G. W. Williams' private "memo to the files" getting into the hands of San Bruno's councilmen.

At that meeting, according to Comaroto, and confirmed by others, Comaroto was quite explicit in pointing out that the Traffic Safety Committee was interested in one thing — traffic safety.

"I said that the job of my committee was traffic safety," explained Comaroto. "I said, I couldn't be concerned with economics of small or large business in this matter."

The 37-year-old Comaroto confirmed that one comment in the "memo" had to do with a charge that he had said the council could be "bought." He said such a statement was not made in the meeting, and he doesn't remember if it was made after the meeting in the hallway.

According to Comaroto, if he did say anything like that it was not in the context it was taken, rather that he didn't think the council would approve the recommendation "based on its past performance," where pressure from G. W. Williams Co., as to business loss, has in several occasions defeated the proposal to prevent left turns.

"G. W. Williams no longer has any valid reason why it can't be done," says Comaroto. "So he's made it a personal thing."

The fact that Comaroto's only allowing the discussion to center on safety, not economics, may have infuriated G. W. Williams was alluded to by Mayor Margaret Kozkowski.

Asked about the reason for the personnel session on June 11, and the mysterious "memo" she said that "maybe the traffic safety hearing hadn't been broad enough."

Councilman Tony Governale said, "Questions were raised and we are investigating it. Comaroto is a small part of the whole question. That's why we're looking into the whole matter."

Mailer Fuss Settled

A U.S. Postal Service investigation of possible "improper actions" in connection with a business reply mailing, which used the San Bruno City Hall address on reply cards, has been written off as "inadvertent," with "no further corrective action necessary."

The San Bruno City Council received a copy of a letter from Lyman T. Johnson, counsel, Regional Office, U.S. Postal Service, San Francisco, stating this position at the Monday night council meeting.

In the letter, addressed to City Clerk Carl Hultberg, Lyman says, "A review of our records and of information prestnted by various San Bruno citizens with an interest in the matter indicates that any violations of postal regulations were inadvertent and no further corrective action by the postal service is necessary."

According to Lyman's letter, "postal regulations specify the form to be used in preparing reply cards (and) the form used by distributors of the mailing in question was not in compliance. This has been brought to their attention in case further such mailings are made."

Lyman pointed out that the purpose of the regulation is to protect postal revenues. "In this case we have collected the full amount of our charges and no one contended that there was any effort to avoid payment. We consider the matter closed," said Lyman's letter.

Also noted in the letter was vindication for postal employe Dick Griffith, who had been under fire for allegedly taking out a mailer addressed to him before the mailer was actually mailed to the public at large.

The letter said a postal employe could pick up his own mail early as long as he had his supervisor's permission, which Griffith had.

The council asked for the investigation after petition gatherers, seeking to halt construction of two 13-story office buildings at the Bayhill development, complained that the use of a private postage-paid reply card showed that postage would be paid by the city, and implied the city clerk condoned an anti-petition-gathering effort.

The mailer was sent out by the Citizens for Balanced Community Growth, with the permit paid for by Larry Mobley, listed as secretary of that committee. The committee chairman is Robert L. Hons.

The mailer asked residents who had signed petitions to halt the construction of the office buildings to reconsider, and have the city clerk remove their names from the petition, hence the need to mail the reply cards to City Hall.

After the mailer had been printed, it was discovered that the words "Postage to be paid by" had not been removed from beside the imprinted return address of "City Clerk" at San Bruno City Hall.

Ironically, the mailer effort was for naught because the petition gatherers had more than sufficient names and when they filed — the day the mailers went out — that action automatically prevented the elimination by law of any names from the petitions.

'Watergate Break-in' Brunch in DC

The public has been invited to a "Watergate Break-In" brunch, sponsored by the Daly City-Colma Democratic Club, Saturday.

The brunch will be at the United Methodist Church on Southgate Avenue, two blocks east of St. Francis Boulevard in Daly City, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. All the pancakes you can eat will be served with bacon and beverages for $1.90.

This function is a fund-raiser for the benefit of the Democratic Club. The public also has been invited to the club meeting, which will precede the brunch at 9 a.m.

Brunch chairman Tom Dickerman said that while there is nothing to celebrate about the Watergate burglary itself there have been some good results.

"Some officials who violated the public trust have been removed from office. Also, the Congress seems to be waking to its responsibility to balance the power of the President. These are the reasons we are celebrating Watergate," Dickerman said.

Commission Eyes Low-Income Housing for San Bruno

An architectural review and site plan for a 120-unit apartment complex for "predominantly professional residents" Monday night prompted San Bruno Planning Commissioner Leon Miller to ask if there will be any room left in the city for low-income housing.

Miller, and his fellow commissioners, had many comments on the proposal to build the one-bedroom and studio project on approximately four acres north of Freeway 380 and bounded by Cherry Avenue and The Place apartments. The commissioners asked that newer, more detailed plans be submitted.

What prompted Miller's concern was a comment on demography in the accompanying environmental impact report. It said: "Apartment units of a generally similar nature and size in the surrounding area indicated that this type of unit in San Bruno attracts young, single or recently married, predominently professional residents with incomes at and above Bay Area averages."

Miller noted that San Bruno has no housing for low income groups. How long, he asked, would it be before the city built some, and where? "We have a lot of swinging apartments, but no room for low income," he said. But the point was not pursued.

Architect Marvin Roghosian, representing the Continental Development Company of Concord, was also asking for minimal parking.

Miller said the "plans are too loose." He added that he objected to the style of architecture because it is a "serious departure" from the neighboring Place apartments.

Commission Chairman William Cox said he thought the density was too high. "Every part of this proposal only meets minimum requirements," said Cox. "And he's asking for less parking thon is required. I think fewer units would solve the parking problems."

Boghosian proposed three "scales of structures." One structure would contain 40 units and provide parking for 40 cars. Another would contain 32 units and parking for the 32 cars. Two remai ing structures would contain 24 units and provide parking for 16 cars within the building and additional adjacent parking.

Projected rental rates for the units would range from $150 to $185 a month. There would be recreational facilities, including a clubhouse and swimming pool.

Another point the commissioners wanted reviewed was whether such a complex would create an additional burden on the city's library. City Planner Jack Mulqueeney said he would research that concern.

In other business last Monday night the commissioners:

— Heard a complaint from businessman Fred Dias, alleging that parking space behind the El Camino Theater is again being used by Tanforan Dodge to park its vehicles.

— Granted a variance to Drs. Albert V. Glenn and Werner Glaser to waive minimum lot size at 680 Jenevein Ave. for the construction of a new medical building.

— Continued a grading permit for an area west of Glenview Drive and 400 feet south of Earl Avenue, slated for construction of 21 single-family lots by developer Joe Welch, pending receipt of an environmental impact report.

— Denied a request for sign permit alterations by the Emporium Capwell Co. at its Tanforan Shopping Center store.

— Approved a use permit request for a bike sales and repair shop at 358 El Camino Real by Richard Chames of South San Francisco.

— Held up action on a rezoning from neighborhood commercial and multiple residentia to single family residential on two lots of state-owned property in Portola Highlands, pending outcome of litigation the city has with the state on Crestm or Canyon lands owned by the state and rezoned to open space by the city.

— Okayed a rezoning of a small parcel on the northeast corner of Whitman Way and Shelter Creek Lane from neighborhood commercial to R-1-D, which is controlled single-family development.

— Also because of the rezoning litigation with the state, held up rezoning of a parcel approximately 600 feet northeast of London Court, between Crestmoor High School and Interstate 280, from multiple residential to R-1-D.

Prime Rib Is Scotty Campbell's Daily Feature

As one who dines out very night of the week and who bends an attentive ear for comments from nearby tables, it would seem that fifty per cent of those scanning a menu ask, "Are you serving prime rib tonight?" In many cases the answer is "Only on weekends." Down at Scotty Campbell's in Redwood City the answer is always "We serve prime ribs of beef every night of the week." And it's served anyway you prefer it. Other specialties here are steaks, spareribs and fowl . . . Enrico Romano, owner of Romano's Italian restaurant in Rockaway Beach, Pacifica, is already preparing for his Fall hunting treks. Romano's, as you well know, is known throughout the Peninsula and coastside for its excellent Italian dinners, and mouth-watering pizza served in many combinations . . . small, medium and large sizes . . . Phil Lehr's Steakery is one of the very few downtown San Francisco restaurants completely air-conditioned from lounge to banquet rooms. It's a welcome haven of cool comfort for diners these sweltering summer eves.

VIRTUOSO — Jimmy Rodgers, recognized as one of San Francisco's top pianists, is back in the Bay Area and entertaining guests in the lounge of the Shirt Tail, in Palo Alto, with his sophisticated piano stylings. Rodgers, a child prodigy on the violin, appearing with the Philadelphia Philharmonica Orchestra when he was only seven years of age, comes direct from a year engagement at the Sheraton-Surfrider Hotel in Waikiki.

Finocchio's New Summer Show Musical Comedy Hit

Now under way and pleasing big audiences is Finocchio's new summer show, which is dedicated to some of the great composers of the past. Among the great musical comedy songs presented nightly are Rhapsody in Blue, Alexander's Ragtime Band, I Got Rhythm, and "A Pretty Girl is Like a Melody." This world-famous house of female impersonations presents four shows each evening . . . The Moonraker, an exquisite restaurant owned and operated by Nick Gust at Rockaway Beach, Pacifica, offers a sophisticated atmosphere for fine dining. This nautical wonder is as famous for its gracious hospitality as it is for Continental dishes . . . An ideal breakfast, lunch or dinner stop while out on Coast Highway One is Nick's restaurant and lounge. The menu suggests many kinds of seafood, but also includes so many meat and fowl dishes that the restaurant could operate successfully at an inland location. Picture windows afford spectacular views of the Pacific ocean with its ever-rolling surf and gigantic breakers. After dark, the restaurant frontage is illuminated for many yards up and down the shoreline. "Spectacular" is the best way to describe it.

Jim Harrison New Chef At the S.M. Platter

The Platter, a recently-opened restaurant located in San Mateo's Shoreview Shopping Center, has acquired the services of Chef Jim Harrison, who arrives on the Peninsula direct from stints at several first-class dinner houses in the Seattle area. Owner John Tallerico says the same moderately-priced dinner menu will remain in effect, with prime rib and steak and lobster being specialties. If you haven't tried their new Sunday brunch, this weekend is a good time. Priced at just $2, the brunch includes eggs (any style), with ham, bacon or sausage, plus champagne . . . Those who have missed dining at Vince's Italian and Seafood restaurant, these past few days, will be pleased to know that Vince Licata and staff will be back in restaurant action on Monday. Open daily from 11 a.m., Vince's is especially prominent for its imaginative approach to Italian specialties and seafood variety . . . Moy's, a small, immaculate Chinese restaurant on Peninsula Avenue, is an ideal choice for family-style dining. In these days of outrageous food prices, dinner here is probably less expensive than dining at home. Moy's also offers food to take out.

Supervisor Raps Solon On Park Tax

County Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald charged Tuesday that State Sen. Arlen Gregorio has reneged on his support for park and open space in San Mateo County by failing to support legislation to permit the county to levy a tax for such work.

The senator, in rebuttal, said that Fitzgerald's criticism "seems to confirm some of the rumors that he intends to run for my job."

Fitzgerald released to the press Tuesday a letter to Gregorio in which he asserts that the State Legislature nullified the decision of San Mateo County voters (in 1972) to impose a tax of up to 10 cents on real property for park and open space acquisition and development.

Noting the restrictions of Senate Bill 90 prohibiting any such tax, Fitzgerald states in his letter that, "It was my hope that you would introduce corrective legislation that would override SB 90 in this particular instance."

"Your lack of action in supporting our (the County Board of Supervisors) request can only mean that you do not believe in our program of parks and open space and our attempt to protect the environment," Fitzgerald states in his letter.

"It is my intention," the supervisor says, "to disseminate this information at the next election."

Gregorio contends that the county doesn't need financial help to carry out its parks and open space program, and notes that the county did not advertise the ballot measure as a tax increase.

The senator says he welcomes Fitzgerald's comments as a "shot across the bow" in what he says is the supervisor's attempt to get in the race against him for the State Senate next year.

"Welcome to the fray," Gregorio commented.

Dog Rescued From Sea; Needs a Home

Jan and Maria Westerhof, of 1773 Adams Street, San Mateo, were sailing their 25-foot Rhodes Meridian sloop out of San Leandro, July 4, just as they used to do beside the Zuider Zee, when they saw something in the water.

It was swimming in circles near the last channel buoy out of San Leandro harbor, about a mile from shore.

"It's a seal," said Jan. "It's in trouble."

"No, it's a dog, and it is drowning," his wife said.

Jan started the auxiliary motor, for the wind had died. He brought the boat around carefully, for it was low tide and muddy shoals were near.

Sure enough, it was a dog — a thin, soft-haired black female, with brown eyes, pointed nose and long ears and tail. She looked up plaintively as they came near. She was nearly exhausted.

They pulled her aboard, and she whined gratefully.

"I don't know whether it fell overboard or what happened," Jan said. "Nobody was around but one motorboat. The occupants seemed to know the animal was there, but did nothing."

After the dog had dried out, they brought it into the harbor. Nobody was missing the dog, which appeared to be part Irish setter and about ten months old.

They brought the dog back to their San Mateo residence.

"We can't keep her," said Jan, as the dog looked about the office of The Times, and nuzzled her head against a writer's knee. "But she is a very friendly dog, and likes small children."

"We would like to find her owner; and if we don't perhaps a nice family who will appreciate the love she shows."

The little dog, about half the size of a setter, looked hopefully up into the reporter's face as he talked.

"We call her 'Shadow,'" for now, Jan said.

On their trip to the paper, the Westerhofs were accompanied by one of their children, Erick 9, a Parkside School pupil. What did Erick say when he saw the dog?

"Can I keep him?" he asked.

He can't because the family has a male Sheltie, "Scottie."

But the Westerhofs will be awaiting calls from dog lovers.

They have been sailing ever since they met in Holland — when he was with the Royal Dutch Air Force.

William D. Goodell Leaves SC School Board; New Job

William D. Goodell, vice-chairman of the San Carlos Elementary School District Board of Trustees, has submitted his resignation because of a job transfer to Boston.

Goodell, 37, was elected to the board in April of 1971, succeeding the retiring Ceres Schroeter.

Officials say a special election will be held at an undetermined time to fill the vacancy.

Goodell will be involved in a new project for the Data General Corp. He said he was unable to give details, other than to state that it involves new product marketing development.

"My goals have been to broaden the board's, the district's, and the community's perception of education and, as a result, improve the district's role. I believe we have made a beginning toward these essential goals."

Goodell's wife, Carol, and son and daughter will remain behind for several weeks because Carol is in the midst of a PhD course at Stanford University.

Meanwhile, trustees named Glisson Morris as new chairman and Arthur J. Pollock as vice-chairman.

Millbrae City Manager Quits; Budget Voted

Millbrae Mayor Art Lepore interrupted his seminar study in Michigan for an emergency flight back to last Tuesday night's city council meeting when he learned that Millbrae City Administrator Richard Watson was quitting his job.

Lepore and the council went into a long executive session as firecrackers snapped in traditional "night before the Fourth" around the city, to see what can be done to replace Watson, who will leave August 1.

Watson, despite the fact that the 1973-74 city budget of $3,513,669, adopted last night, raised his $27,000 annual salary to $38,000, announced he was leaving to become executive director of the County Supervisors Association of California.

He said that his new state post will pay $37,000 a year.

Council members, accepting Watson's resignation with more than ordinary regret, each spoke out at length in appreciation of the work Watson has done since he came to the city in 1967.

Former Mayor and Councilman Bernard Esser found some solace, however, in the fact that in his new position, Watson "can really do some good for the state of California to try to straighten out some of these cities."

Esser appeared to be referring to the fact that with regional government hanging over their heads, counties and cities about the state are often at loggerheads over just who will exercise local domain and how it will be done, when, as one authority confided during the executive session, the need is for more cooperation.

Esser appeared to feel that the Supervisors Association had made a brilliant choice in selecting their man.

But acting mayor William Glang expressed it best, in telling the council's dismay: "I do not know that you are quite aware of the shock this had been to this city's government," he said, addressing Watson, after the administrator had read a long letter of resignation.

Richard Watson

Glang kept the session moving while it waited for Mayor Lapore to arrive. He had been expected a few hours earlier but had been delayed by an airlines delay in Chicago. Lapore came in shortly before 10 p.m., and the council, now at full strength, moved immediately into executive session.

When it broke up an hour later, it was announced that Doug Dawson, Watson's assistant, will be his interim replacement until the city decides on a permanent administrator.

The council also decided on two appointments to the Recreation Commission. They are Bill Greenleaf and Maureen Poppers.

In his resignation, Watson told the supervisors how he had been approached and offered the state position.

"Both the California Counties Association and the League of California Cities are at a juncture in time where they are each determining what their respective futures should be, including new goals and directions in order to be more effective in representing themselves," he pointed out.

Watson explained that in his new capacity, he will be representing all of the counties of the state before the governor and the state legislature. He also will be the counties representative in dealing with other agencies of government, in particular with cities "in an effort to have a common approach leading to the common benefit of all of the state's people."

Of Millbrae, he said he will be "forever indebted."

Hailing the progress of the city during the past six years as "phenomenal," he said credit should go to this and the previous council, and termed the councilmen "among the most dedicated public officials that I have ever known."

Watson also pointed out the "advice, counseling and assistance that I have received from Mrs. Elva Allen as well as from Doug Dawson."

In adopting its new budget, Millbrae cut its tax rate. It is only .0026 cents less than last year's, but it is a cut.

Even while doing this, the council approved a cost of living salary raise of an average $4.88 a week across the board for its 95 city employes, with minor adjustments higher and lower for some. The salary package was approved last month.

Of the total figure, the general fund budget is $1,685,841. The Millbrae tax rate total for its $3 million plus total budget, is $9.8541 per hundred dollars of valuation.

In other business, the council reluctantly took on responsibility for putting up this year's Christmas decorations, but expressed dismay at the city's Chamber of Commerce for putting it into such a situation.

The chamber, which has contracted on a three-year basis to purchase lighting and decorations that will stretch the entire 22 blocks of El Camino Real between Burlingame and San Bruno, as well as along four blocks of Broadway, told the city it had no money to put them up. It is storing the decorations at a cost of $900.

The council finally resolved to make the Chamber responsible for soliciting bids for the work, with the city paying the fee for the job, but added an admonition that never again will the city handle the matter this way.

Councilman Barney Spera, after hearing a chamber executive explain that "we are bound with a signed contract but we do not have the money," said he would not vote for this.

"I hate to see the city back down on this. We have previously made the highest contribution of any city on the Peninsula to these decorations — now the Chamber makes a contract then tells us to pick it up.

"We thought we would teach them a beautiful lesson by going for half of this; now they tell us to pay it all."

Glang explained that only a few Millbrae business firms are "oriented to Christmas" and that if the city didn't go along, some businessmen normally pledged to support the decorations might back out.

"They put themselves into this," Spera retorted. "There outht to be a moral principle that the Chamber of Commerce can't sign contracts then come to us."

The council added such an amendment to its motion, saying that in the future, the Chamber must notify the council in advance in writing of such a contract plan before the budget is prepared.

Appeal by the Salvation Army

Sometime is often elsewhere. The Army wants no longer to be used and the unused and the unwanted are used by the work force and program of the Salvation Army.

Major George W. Duplain, center director, said Red Shield trucks operate Monday through Saturday to help residents clean their homes and garages of usable discards. Household items, clothing, repairable furniture and appliances are needed to provide work for handicapped people who come to the Salvation Army seeking help with their problems, Duplain said.

The Men's Social Service is a home, work, treatment and rec center for people in need, Duplain said. Concern, understanding and encouragement help many to seek new and acceptable behavior patterns and ultimately return to society with respect and dignity as productive and responsible members of the community, according to the director.

A color film presenting the work of the Center is available for showing to church and civic groups.

JESD Board Reorganizes

The Jefferson Elementary School Board swore in a new member last Tuesday night and reshuffled its makeup with Trustee Dorothy Adams taking over the chairmanship.

David Parker, elected last April in a hotly contested race, along with re-elected incumbents Mrs. Adams and James Cranna, were sworn in at the start of the 8 p.m. meeting by Superior Court Judge Gerald E. Hagan.

In swift progression, Adams was appointed to the chairmanship, Beverly Forrester to be vice-chairman, Cranna to be the board's representative to the county, and Parker as clerk of the board.

Long-time board member Edward Tomasello voted for all four appointments.

The new makeup of the board is seen as leaning heavily toward reversing some of Supt. Frank Greenwood's policies.

Greenwood did not attend the board meeting or coffee and cake party afterward. He went on vacation last week.

Also absent was defeated board member Albert Collett.

Before adjourning its meeting, the board voted to move its meetings back to the Administration building a 101 Lincoln Ave. and out of city hall.

The previous board had decided the city hall chambers was a more appropriate place to hold meetings and moved there two years ago.

All's Quiet?

ALL'S QUIET ON THE Western Front, that is, the Jefferson Elementary School District. There has been no blood bath to date, as observers had predicted; the recreational contract between Daly City and the JESD is still in force; the district has moved its meetings back to the Lincoln Avenue Administration Building, where the school records are kept, from City Hall.

BUT ALL THIS quiet appears to be the lull before the storm. And the storm has started! Last week, the board majority, now split 3-2 in opposition to Supt. Frank Greenwood's policies, hired two outside legal attorneys. It is interpreted as a move to break away from the district attorney's office. In the past, and we assume still, the DA is the district's counsel and also the prosecutor of any wrongdoing. There has been dissatisfaction voiced by at least three members of the school board in this regard.

KEITH BREON, former deputy district attorney who did not always see eye-to-eye with DA Keith Sorenson, and Oakland Attorney William Johnston, were the two legal aides hired. Breon will be charged with drafting policies for the district. In many cases he will simply prepare policies where none existed before. Johnston will be on hand to prepare "charges," if and when they are needed. It is interpreted by this humble (Champion of the People) that Johnston will be called upon to lay the groundwork for the dismissal of Greenwood and Associate Supt. Roger Barfuh. Time will tell!

BEFORE WE CLOSE OUT THIS passage, it has been rumored by those supposedly "in the know" that tonight the JESD Board will instruct its staff to recall all credit cards for telephone calls in the district, including those now held by the personnel commission.

MARK YOUR CALENDAR — Thursday (tomorrow) is the date for the Greater Daly City Chamber of Commerce Installation. Incoming prez is Frank (Toto) Spadarella. Because the outgoing chamber president, Paul Hupf, was touring Europe, the original date was changed. Hupf is back and the luncheon, at the Skyliner, in on.

BOARD YOU CAN BANK ON — The new GDCCOC Board is made up of not one, but TWO local banks — First National (Charles Turner) and First Western (Frank Macchia).

A LOCAL TAXPAYER told this column recently he was sick of two things. The Watergate escapade and our writings on the school district. Instead of being offended, we feel honored that such humble writings as our should be compared with the Watergate airings. Just as sure as our name isn't Sen. Sam Ervin, we will stay with the JESD and you can be on it, regardless.

KIDS WITH FIRECRACKERS are still at it. This year in the Bay Area we "celebrated" the Fourth with one child dead and hundreds seriously injured by those "harmless" firecrackers. So you see, folks, these "salutes" are more than nuisances, they can kill and injure. They are against the law, and it's time the law cracked down — hard.

IT IS ALSO our desire to have someone, somewhere, do something about another nuisance, equally dangerous, to motorists and persons involved alike. We've talked 'til we're blue in the face and still nothing is being done about those shopping carts that end up blocks away from the stores where they were assigned. Usually these metal monsters are left against the side of someone's car, on lawns, in the street (a real hazard at night) and wherever the person that used it decides to leave it.

A POPULAR GAME nowadays is for some child to grab a cart someone has left at the top of a hill and ride it to the bottom. We shouldn't have to tell you that motorists are being scared out of their wits by the speeding carts and yelling kids. At the end of the ride the carts are discarded. "What can we do?" Supermarket owners and police ask. To which we answer unflinchingly: "Anything you can, but hurry."

ONE WAY TO CUT costs is to do what several local groups of housewives are now doing. They band together, usually in groups of 10 families, and buy in bulk from various produce markets around the Bay Area. On returning home, they divvy up the food. The only trouble, one satisfied housewife says, is that you take one-tenth of whatever was bought. And it isn't always what the family wants. The operation is just like a co-op store, only smaller. Savings are big, though.

WHEN IS SOMETHING going to be done about that traffic snarl on Hillside Blvd., Colma every weekend, the one in front of that popular produce market across from Councilman Fred Garbini's house. It seems, we are told, that the owner of the market has put out some of his own hard-earned money to hire a private policeman to assist in untangling the tangle. But the cop's hands are cuffed because the local law enforcement agency will not authorize him to cite violators.

TRAVEL TIPS — Colma Fire Chief George Riccomi and Daly City Councilman Ton Giammona off to Hawaii. No, they are not travelling together. Giammona is gone for a month. Riccomi only a week. A glutton for punishment (we were robbed on the last trip) the missus and myself are now mapping plans for another trip to the Island State.

Ryan 'Horrified' at Cost of Service Schools

By FRANK LaPIERRE

American taxpayers are not getting their money's worth out of the nation's three most famous service schools — Annapolis, West Point and the Air Force Academy — according to Cong. Leo J. Ryan (Dem., San Mateo).

Ryan said at a news conference last week he was "horrified" upon learning the cost of running the military in general and the service schools in particular.

In a scathing criticism of the present-day United States Defense budget (some $137 billion), Ryan singled out the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs as the most vulnerable target.

He said it costs taxpayers $17,000 to send a man for a year to the Air Force Academy to get an education that "doesn't even make him ready to fly combat missions."

"All they learn to do is fly Cessnas (small, single-engine aircraft, something they could probably do better and certainly for less money at San Carlos Airport," Ryan said.

The former South San Francisco schoolteacher pointed out that a student can receive an equal education at Columbia, Stanford, or the University of California for about $3,000.

Even when the government throws in room and board the cost is far above what it would cost for a person to attend so-called "civilian colleges" and universities, he said.

Another "matter" which upset him, Ryan said, was the number of Air Force officers stationed at the Pentagon in Washington, D.C., getting flight pay.

"Some of these officers get $8,000 a year extra for flying a desk," he said.

Ryan visited the Air Force Academy last March with other congressional members.

He called the young men that attend the service schools "the cream of the crop." And while asking for a "realistic review" of operational costs and procedures at the service schools, he said it would be "fiscally irresponsible" to close them down.

Although cost of sending a man through the service schools is high, the courses offer little more than those at regular schools.

Ryan suggested the schools be expanded to a graduate level of schooling, noting they are nothing more than undergraduate facilities at present.

The discrimination that exists at the three schools was likewise hit by Ryan.

Recently, Ryan recommended a Foster City girl — Susan C. Simpliciano — to the academy.

She had been screened, Ryan said, by a local citizens' group and highly recommended for the academy.

As in the case of another girl recommended to attend Annapolis by Congressman Jerome Waldie, the school rejected the application "on physical grounds."

Ryan was incensed over this rejection, he said.

He called the all-male rule for attending the schools "blatant discrimination" and accused the government of threatening to cut off federal funding of civilian schools if they maintain such rules of discrimination.

The freshman congressman said the current condition of these schools "and their practice of sex discrimination" should be the "number one concern in the nation."

He also talked of the top-heavy offices load now prevalent in the service, with more lieutenant colonels now, than lieutenants, and more officers per capita than World War II.

Ryan said he saw no need for "so many" black limousines cruising about Washington, chauffeured by military men.

And he hit the closing of Hunters Point shipyard, which will throw some 6,000 American taxpayers out of work, while the military continues to operate a huge facility at Subic Bay in the Philippines employing some 6,000 local workers "who do not pay American taxes or spend their money here."

"All these matters are hitting us (taxpayers) in the pocketbook and something has to be done," Ryan said.

North County Wants Answers on Courts

Members of the North San Mateo County Council of Cities Friday night made it clear that although the north end of the county is not adverse to court consolidation, they do want to know what impact it would have on the North County before approving it.

To reinforce this position the cities unanimously agreed to a three-point position offered by San Bruno Councilman George Corey. The points are:

To reaffirm the earlier position that the North County would accept consolidation only after it is known what effect it would have on the cities in the north.

To resist any kind of county-mandated ordinance that would force a consolidation regardless of the objections of any of the county's cities.

To allow the North County Council of Cities Court Consolidation Committee to send a communication to all the cities in the county telling of the potential dangers they may face in the event consolidation is manipulated without their input, or care for their concerns and needs.

On this third item, the principal concern was with the future of the Central District Court in San Mateo. Closing that court except for minimal needs would force various central county cities to go to Redwood City, or anywhere else a mandated court consolidation program might send them, it was pointed out.

In reviewing briefly the history of the court consolidation issue, Corey said that initially it was agreed that the consolidation would give "proper protection" so that city services would not be reduced.

He also told how Assemblyman Lou Papan, who was in attendance at the Thursday night meeting, used "a great deal of courage" to fight for the North County's position on the consolidation.

Corey "told of a meeting he and Papan had with County Manager Martin Tarshes in which Tarshes, according to Corey, agreed to abide by the requests of the North County in the matter.

Later, Corey said, Tarshes reneged, saying that during the meeting he was not representing the Board of Supervisors, and the only reason he agreed to any of the conversation at that meeting was because of Papan "holding a club," in the form of proposed legislation.

Corey said in the latest meeting with the county, Supervisor James Fitzgerald had indicated, "There would be consolidation without respect to the feelings or concerns of the cities."

According to Corey many "unpleasant things were said at that meeting." And he said that, plus earlier indications that the North County position was not being considered, had prompted his request for the three-point action.

Samuel Chandler

Women's Lib

By SAMUEL CHANDLER
Daly City Librarian

As a delegate to a conference of the American Library Association I wandered into a meeting where the speaker was Wilma Scott Heide, president of the National Organization of Women. Wow! I can tell you Women's Liberation is here to stay. "It is too deep," Ms. Heide cried out, "too necessary and there are too many people involved.

"This will take a long time, but by the end of the century we will be well on the way to institutional changes." President Heide predicted. Meanwhile women must take "militant, insistent, dramatic action and some risks" to make everyone understand that "we are serious."

She said that gender controls only three jobs: Two to women, to incubate children and to serve as a wet nurse; and one to man, to donate the sperm necessary to reproduce human beings. All other jobs should be and must be open to persons of both sexes, she snapped.

Ms. Heide cried that women no longer can deny that they are members of an oppressed caste controlled by the white male power structure. This structure, she declared, created the inequality that the world has witnessed. It is responsible for the things that produce human misery: slavery, rape, gambling, etc. Citing current events she shouted "Is it any wonder that we have war when half of the population's child rearing sanctions violence as a symbol of manhood? All women are poor in a male dominated society. Women have not only been economically impoverished, but women have had to think poor." Such social ills leads one to question whether the "masculine mystique is capable of leadership."

She questioned the age-old notion that women need men to protect them. Maybe it should be the other way, she suggested. A study of the human anatomy does show that the vital parts of a male need more protection than those of a woman. Moreover, if women were given more viable alternatives to motherhood, we would be talking about population choices rather than population control.

Of religion, she said it is a mark of female oppression that so many women are seeking liberation in the afterlife through salvation by a male savior. Ms. Heide said women should tithe to women's groups instead of churches until religious institutions shape up and give women a chance to participate equally at all levels.

"Women," she thundered, "should work to end the sexual exploitation of women as sex objects." She challenged the men present to look around them and note that the women present were colleagues, not objects for esthetic pleasure.

Accepting the challenge the few men who had not left the meeting shot glances at the women but dared not look at anything but their elbows and their knees.

Copies of Ms. Heide's speeches may be found in the periodical "Vital Speeches," for April 15, 1972 and May 1, 1973. Similar discussions covering the whole range of the role of women in the modern world may be found in Volume 43, Number 6 of the "Reference Shelf." Entitled, "Women and Society," the book is edited by Diana Reische and loaded with information.

Still another source of information about the conditions of American women may be found in the book "Discrimination Against Women," which is a reprint of the U.S. Congressional hearings on equal rights in education and employment. The testimonies presented cover such subjects as women and the American scene, women and education, women and the professions, women and government, and model remedies. Truly this is a volume worth consulting.

TV Season Can Start On Time: Maybe

Last month on our annual sojourn in Los Angeles with all three networks, the number one subject of discussion with stars, producers and network officials was "when will the new season start?" This question came about because of the 14-week writers' strike which was holding up production in all the major studios.

While in Hollywood, NBC announced that it would delay the opening of the new season until September 24 or October 1.

It now appears that the season may get started on September 10 as planned, but not completely. About 20 or so of the series, mostly continuing ones, are produced by independent producers who had signed with the union some months ago. Those shows will be right on schedule for the second week in September.

A survey of studios reveals that not too many series will be delayed, although those being delayed, for the most part, are brand new shows.

The new "Temperatures Rising" starring Paul Lynde won't be ready until, at least, the first week in October. ABC will use repeats until the new shows come along. NBC's "Chase" being produced by Jack Webb's Universal can't be ready until then either. When Webb was asked if it were not possible to meet an earlier deadline, he said: "Yes, but the quality wouldn't be there. I rather take the right amount of time and have a late start."

NBC's "Magician" starring Bill Bixby will have some problems, too. "We have a lot of shooting to do in San Francisco," Bixby said, "and if the strike is over tomorrow (which it was) we still would not be ready before the first of October."

Police Story," based on an idea and story by Sgt. Joseph Wambaugh, of the Los Angeles Police Department, won't be ready until October either, but Wambaugh explained that several of the shows will go into production at the same time, so "once we get rolling there won't be any real problems." Like "Police Story," Screen Gems' "Bob and Carol and Ted and Alice" will be late and the first episodes can't be ready before the end of September. Telly Savalas' "Kojack" will be late in starting also.

The "Wednesday Mystery Movie" on NBC will also be delayed and none of the three series that make up that show, "Banacek," "The Snoop Sisters" starring Helen Hayes, and "Faraday and Company" starring Dan Dailey, will be ready in time. "Love Story," the NBC anthology series, won't be ready until October probably.

Kin Killed. Doctor Hurt In Air Crash

The wife and daughter of a South San Francisco psychiatrist were killed Sunday in a mid-air collision of two single-engine planes.

The craft collided over the Sonoma Sky Park in Sonoma County.

Killed were Dr. Lynn Cohen, 39, a pathologist at San Francisco's Mt. Zion Hospital, and her daughter, one-year-old Stephanie.

Both were thrown out of the plane when it rammed the cockpit of a plane piloted by Dr. Marvin Simmons, a Fresno physician.

Dr. Tony Cohen, 40, was attempting to land his plane at the small airport when the accident occurred.

Cohen was trapped inside the wreckage of his plane which did not burn.

He was taken in serious condition to Sonoma Valley Hospital.

His wife died en route to the hospital, and the daughter died shortly after she was admitted to the hospital, according to a report from the Associated Press.

Dr. Simmons managed to land his plane safely and escaped injury.

Cohen is a resident psychiatrist for the Mental Health Division of the San Mateo County Health and Welfare Department, and he has been attached to the North County office in South San Francisco for the past year.

Grapes, Avocados are Seasonable Summer Treats

European varieties of table grapes are now ripe and on the markets. The Coachella district is maintaining the grape markets with steady supplies of Thompson Seedless and Cardinal varieties. Harvesting of Perlettes in Coachella finished last week and was expected to begin from Kern County at that time.

In the next two or three weeks harvesting of Thompson Seedless grapes is expected to reach peak volume, so buy now or prepare to. The supply of this seedless variety should last until August 1, as production moves from Arvin-Bakersfield to Delano to the Fresno area. An increase in the Cardinal variety was anticipated last week, and harvest should continue for a few more weeks.

Quality is generally very good for both varieties this year, with large berries in well-formed bunches. Grapes this year have been noted as exceptionally sweet because of the slow growing season capped by very hot weather.

Grape prices are about equal to last year's — from 43 to 69 cents per pound.

To buy grapes choose a medium sized bunch with fairly loose sections to facilitute easy eating and circulation of air that prevents moisture accumulation and the resulting mildew. Also check the "bloom," or the velvety, powdery look on the skin of nice, fresh grapes. If the grapes look shiny, the bloom has been rubbed off from excessive handling. Finally look for bunches that have a firm, green, healthy stem. Dried stems that are brown or black in color are likely to have grapes that have started to age and lose their flavor.

Grapes are best when eaten fresh, but try these succulent little morsels in a different state — frozen. This versatile fruit is also good with melon balls, grapefruit sections or avocados.

Avocados — or as some say, alligator pears — are especially good in the summer salad months. Peak volume for summer varieties of avocados will continue until the first of September, then tail off. Volumes harvested in October are negligible but things start looking up come November. However, next year is not expected to reach this year's prolific harvest. This may result in higher prices for avocados. Presently, the fruit is selling from 34 to 49 cents apiece.

Bulk of production at this time is from Ventura and Santa Barbara Counties and will continue for the remainder of summer and fall. Earlier this year, San Diego County supplied markets with the Hass summer variety of avocados.

This rough, dark-skinned avocado now dominating California markets is ready to eat when the skin turns black. These fruits are picked green from the trees where they are "stored" and upon clipping the stem, the fruit begins to mature.

Avocados, with their delicate nutty flavor and buttery texture, can be used as a fruit or vegetable. Try serving fresh avocado slices along with eggs and sausages in the morning, or for an interesting added attraction to eggs, mix and mash avocados and eggs.

If it's too hot to cook, halve an avocado, remove the seed, and fill the center cavity with shrimp or crab meat. For those with a limited budget, try a tuna salad and place the stuffed avocado on some crisp lettuce.

This nutritious and filling dish is not fattening. Half of an avocado has about 150 calories, 11 vitamins, 13 minerals, a trace of protein, and is a very healthy food.

The University of California has reported that milk is one of the most important food items in anybody's diet. Milk and milk products, including butter, provide 22 per cent of our intake of protein and 76 per cent of the calcium. Energy, fat, magnesium, riboflavin, vitamins D, B-12, and numerous additional vitamins and minerals are also supplied.

Although fluid milk still remains one of the most consumed beverages in the country today, surpassed only by water and equaled by coffee, there is a rapid rise of much less nutritious drinks on the past few years. For example, soft-drink consumption has jumped 100 per cent in 12 years.

It is a dangerous trend that poor foods are substituted at the expense of extremely valuable foods like milk products, meat, poultry and eggs, legumes, fruits and vegetables, and whole or enriched cereal products. Many of the snack foods are high in sugar and fat, but low in overall food value.

Ingredients Listing Set

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) has amended federal meat inspection regulations to require processors who add smoke flavoring or artificial smoke flavoring to their meats to declare these additions in the ingredient statement on the label.

USDA officials said the amendment clarifies current regulations which require the processor to state in the product's name that such flavoring has been added but do not clearly require that he list in the ingredient statement either type of flavoring used. This was, however, the intent of the current regulations, officials said.

The amendment becomes effective June 24. Copies of the amendment, which will be published in the Federal Register May 22, will also so be available from Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS), Room 1658-S, USDA, Washington, D.C. 20250.

Freshness, Quality Up

Mechanization of the egg industry within the past 15 years, combined with rapid transportation, has resulted in much fresher and higher quality eggs reaching the market place. In fact, the U.S. Department of Agriculture notes that eggs in major market areas are often on grocer's shelves within 24 hours after being produced.

Today, mass candling machines can process 80 cases or more per hour—quite a contrast to hand candling when one person could grade and pack only about 25 cases per day. Most eggs are now processed and shipped without being touched by human hands.

USDA Role in Labeling Meat

Meat quality grading and meat inspection are two different things. All meat is inspected to be certain that it is safe to eat, but not all meat is graded for quality. Quality grading is not mandatory, but meat inspection is. Both the inspection and grading services are provided by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Produce Needs Gentle Touch

Use a tender touch when you select fresh fruits and vegetables. The U.S. Department of Agriculture reminds consumers that fresh produce should be handled carefully. Bruising and damage caused by careless consumer handling cause losses that are paid for by the consumer in the long run.

WHEN COMPARING MEAT PRICES

In order to feature lower prices, some other stores buy meat of lower grades. Some others mix USDA CHOICE and lower grades. Some coin fancy names for the lower grades they sell. But at Safeway, every fresh cut of steak and roast of beef is USDA CHOICE grade. The grade that is awarded to meat that will deliver tender, juicy, flavorful cuts.

At Mayfair
You save more on food

Uncle Sam helps us prove that food cost less at Mayfair last week than at 7 other top chains

Again last week, we compared food prices with the major supermarkets in this area.

"Specials", "total discount", and most other kinds of prices were compared. In this survey of June 29 to 30, Mayfair's overall food prices were lower than seven other top supermarket chains'.

To try to be fair, the comparisons were again with Uncle Sam's list, the same full list of items that the U.S. Department of Labor, Bureau of Labor Statistics, uses every month to measure food prices as part of the cost of living.

These comparisons show you could have saved from $.59 to $9.25 on the $50 to $60 worth of basic foods in this list.

With the high cost of living these days, really, can you afford not to buy your food at Mayfair?

Le Pacini

On Charley

By LE PACINI

THOUGHTS ON BASEBALL — We wonder why baseball teams who locate "spotters" in the stands to try to pick up such things as signals from the catcher on the opposing team are considered cheats and subject to fines and all sorts of other chastisement by the baseball hierarchy; but why it's perfectly legitimate for football teams to locate spotters in the upper reaches of the stadium to "legally" pick up as much information on the other team as they can get away with?

We also wonder why slumping or incompetent big league umpires can't be or aren't subject to minor league demotion like big league baseball players. To the best of our knowledge this has never happened, not in midseason, not even at the end of a season. There have been umps who have been fired from the majors and then re-emerged in the minors on their own. But never have they been farmed out to the minors on a 24-hour recall or some such similar arrangement.

If any of you doubt the finger-in-every-pie, all-consuming power of Charley Finley over his sports operations, particularly in baseball, we offer the following story, not apocryphal, which is being boldly told in print, exclusively, right here, as you like it, for the first time.

ONE SATURDAY afternoon your correspondent and a friend decided to risk our lives on the Nimitz Freeway and trundle over to (ugh!) Oakland, not as writers but as civilians to sit in the stands and stare at the funny scoreboard and partake of those giant hot dogs and perhaps watch some American League baseball from the corners of our blood-soaked eyes.

It was a lovely day, notwithstanding the drunk (yes, at noon time!) who ran into a rail and nearly rebounded off the roof of our automobile (we later saw his burned-out fender in the Coliseum parking lot) and so benevolent were we feeling that we decided to buy a scorecard so that we would know against whom we were rooting.

There was a goodly crowd and as we purchased the scorecard from the cranky little old man who was selling them we noticed first that Finley had not been assigned a number and secondly that the cranky little old man was down to his last scorecard.

TRYING TO be friendly, our companion said to the cranky little old man like this: "Hey, this is a good crowd. You better hustle back under the stands and get yourself a new supply there or you'll lose business."

Had we slipped a burr under his partial plate there is much doubt as to whether the cranky little old man would have released a more blood curdling scream.

"You're telling me! You think I don't know it, damn it. That's what I told Finley when I called him long distance this morning (Ed Note: presumably in Indiana). I told him 'Charley, we need more scorecards, there's gonna be a big crowd today,' and Charley told me he hadn't got around to getting them out yet and not to panic, that we'd make out."

AND WITH THAT the cranky little old man stomped off, perhaps to give Charley another call and we entered the stadium trying to determine if we had really heard what we thought we heard. The consesus was that (1) We had indeed heard it. (2) We couldn't believe we had heard it.
man was telling a true story or not, to that we cannot attest. Perhaps he was bragging, perhaps he was making excuses; but we feel the odds are — considering Finley's track record — that he was telling the truth; that Finley not only had direct control over distribution of and the number of scorecards printed, but that a common vendor (no executive would be out in the stadium selling scorecards — or would he?) would have Finley's personal phone number and be able to contact him over a relatively trivial matter. It is all just flakey enough to fit Finley's mode of operation.

Believe it or not, it happened.

IT WAS just about at that point in time, incidentally, that a friend was working in the PR department for Finley and he told us, while discussing one day Charley's curious employment habits, that he literally had to meet new people every day that he walked into the A's front office.

"It's like a Who's Who of new faces everyday," was the way he put it. And he wasn't joking. Especially a few months later, when there was a new face replacing his.

And if you want to know the WHOLE story behind the Mike Epstein firing — whoops trade — it went like this, or so an extremely reliable source tells us:

DURING THAT now famous plane ride home from the World Series when, as generally reported, Epstein told off both manager Dick Williams and Finley, Mike was still on the team, however tenuously, until his feisty WIFE got in on the act and REALLY told Finley off. Our source said that that was the last straw for Charley, who thinks wives are only for kissing on tops of dugouts. Thus, you see, it wasn't really Mike Epstein who was traded. It was his wife!

And there you have it. Another boldly told exclusive, as you like it, for the first time in print!

IT WAS NOTED by Lon Simmons during San Francisco's recent trip to Cincinnati that 11 of the last 14 Cincy home games had been delayed by rain (the Giant game, that particular night, by 2½ hours).

And then these teams have the nerve to complain about Candlestick's wind!

It was just this past April that Carl Hubbell told us that if Juan Marichal and Sam McDowell could make comebacks enough to win "just" 25 games between them, that the Giants would be real contenders. Considering the fates of Marichal and McDowell, and the fact that the Giants are contenders anyway, we wonder where they would be if Marichal and McDowell really were winning for them at Hubbell's prescribed rate.

WE WON'T go into detail on the self-evident absurdities of the All Star Game voting, nor even question why Bobby Bonds, who may be having the best year of any player in the majors this season, won't make the starting lineup because he doesn't come from a populous area, because we think those absurdities and inequities can best be summed up by noting that Hank Aaron is the leading vote getter among first basemen, even those he has played all season in the outfield.

And speaking of Aaron, as much as we respect him, as much as we're rooting for him to break Babe Ruth's career homerun record, we can't help but feel that Aaron has reached the point — perhaps because of his chase for the record, perhaps because age is finally catching up to him — where he is hurting his team. He's hitting only .225, not driving in runs at anything near his usual rate, he can no longer throw and he can no longer guarantee play on a regular basis.

He is beginning to remind us of Willie Mays in his last year or two with the Giants. We hope Henry breaks the record and then goes out with dignity.

D.C. Playground Programs Going

Abraham Lincoln playground has many programs planned for this summer. One upcoming event is a tie-dying class.

The tie-dying instructional class will be on the playground on Friday at 1:30 p.m. All one needs is a T shirt or anything else he wants to tie-die. Dyes and the instructions will be provided.

COLMA PLAYGROUND: The great carrom players of the world are warming up for the upcoming first annual Colma Carroms Tournament. Pre-tourney favorites are Ricky Kennedy, Carlos Johnson, Richard Navarros and Laurie Kennedy.

Each Friday at 1:30 p.m. there is a barbecue. All children should bring their own hot dogs to roast. A cook of the week will be named.

Broom hockey leagues and a volleyball tournament are forming. Stars like "Papa" Johnson, Greg Tatum and Dennis O'Shea are busy getting in shape.

DANI9L WEBSTER PLAYGROUND: Daniel Webster opened its broom hockey season with a 9-7 win over Westmoor Park last Friday. Scoring was led by the Martin Brothers with an outstanding goal defense by Ron Spinetti. Rick Gray, player-coach, was awarded the "Most likely to fail" league ribbon.

A boys' slow-pitch softball league is starting at Daniel Webster. All interested boys may contact the recreation leader. Dave Hirsch and Rick Mazzucco are working out already for the league opener.

A barbecue is planned for each Friday and many other events are planned for the coming weeks.

F. D. ROOSEVELT: Last Wedsesday the impossible was accomplished at FDR. Recreation Leader Dean Chalios defeated ex-Serramonte star "Rocket" Ralph Sands, former athlete of the week at one-on-one basketball, 24-14. Needless to say, "Rocket" has gone into hiding for the past few days. Another highlight at FDR was the first weekly barbecue. John Profit and lots of other little leaguers are putting the wiffle ball and bat to very good use playing strike-out. A wiffle ball strike out tournament will be soon at FDR. Two-man team signups will be taken. In addition to the carroms board, a checkerboard has been added to FDR and "champs" like Mike Worth and Donna Palastrini are trying to find a way to defeat the recreation leader.

JUNIPERO SERRA: In the middle of the week, Junipero Serra playground will start a carroms tournament.

Each Friday there will be a barbecue, if weather permits, around noon time.

JEFFERSON: Good things were cooking at Jefferson Elementary playground last Friday. A hot dog and marshmallow roast brought several youngsters together around a hibachi, including Anthony and Lawrence Acosta, Clay Younger and Lisa and Mark Boodman. A carroms tournament is scheduled for this Thursday. All boys and girls seven years and older have invited to demonstrate their skill with a cue.

LINCOLN PARK: Last week's basketball pentathlon at Lincoln Park showed plenty of future talent in this sport. Reyner Medina captured the intermediate division and came out as the day's high point man. "Jumping" Jim Adams captured first in the senior class division.

Aaron Vernick had to pull several tricks out of his hat to come up first ahead of his sister, Colleen, who was doing her thing.

MIDWAY: Monday, June 25, the Imperials junior teen club softball team played its first softball game against the Telstars and came out on the short end.

The Imperials, including Patty Lam, Beverly Lam, Cynthia Garcia and Cheryl Keene, played a solid game. Standouts for the boys were Roy Wockmetooah, Danny Lara, Ronnie Campos, Jim Padua, Paul DeLuca and many others. Next game, the league opener, is next week against the Castaways.

OLYMPIA: The ping-pong table is going full ti and Susan Savage is beating e erybody on the "sorry game". The chess board is dominated by Ray Restivo. Johnny Robbins has been almost unbeatable on the carroms board. Karen Toner has been second best.

Coming up this week, Olympia hopes to get the kickball league going.

PANORAMA SCHOOL: Panorama School went on its first field trip of the summer to Lake Anza last week. Next Friday, there will be a barbecue, softball, kickball and more. Thursday there are ovies.

VISTA GRANDE A chess and a ping-pong urnament highlighted the sec d week of summer activity o the hilltop. The quality of the ompetition forced the chess urnament into an extra we as Jose "Boris" Ruiz, Ken l zzato, Dan Martire and Huey oveles all found themselves eq ally talented. The ping-pong ournament found the Wetherbee family claiming the first three prizes; Maria, Mildred and Marcella placed first, second and third, respectively.

The second week of summer also saw the birth of Vista Grande's softball team, yet to be named. The tentative ine-up: Third base, James Keyes; shortstop, Victor Ruiz; second base, Arthur "Tito" Diaz; first base, Huey Lovele ; catcher, Dan Martire; and p cher, Andy Wetherbee.

The outfield posi ns will be filled by Joe Johns n and Jose Tony and Francisco Ruiz. Everyone is welcome to try out for the team. The first game will be against another playground in a few days.

VISTA MAR: Last Friday at Vista Mar Playground was the first in a series of watermelon eating contests. Winner was Paul Luz, with Roger Homer taking a close second. Paul won a free trip to Don Castro recreation Area. Teams are being organized in broom hockey, boys softball and girls softball, but more players are needed.

WESTLAKE SCH OL: Westlake School is rea enjoying its newly-acquired ping-pong table. Mike Kelly, J y Lombardo, Joey Buono, D ve Patterson, Andy Macc no, Jerry Perotti, Kent Carrillo, Tony Poulos, Joy Poulos and Danny Hunt were among the participants.

WESTMOOR PARK: Softball was big during the second week of activities at Westmoor Park. Highlights were the awarding of the "Athlete of the Week" to Jim Ocampo and "Defensive Player of the Week" to Marcel Crossland. Jim set a record for most homeruns in a week with 14. Besides his outstanding hitting, he was a st dy fielder throughout the wee Marcel always eemed to come up with the ey play in the field. Some o the others participating and showing outstanding performances were Tino Donaire second in home runs for the week; Jack Dorn, Craig Bloom, Kevin Devalos, Clark Bloom, Pat McMillan, Bernard Duffy, Raymon Balagot, Gregg Weiner, Chris Bradfield, Mike Banks, Steve Botta, Pat Reagan, Dave Gunter, Mike Botta, Rich and Dave Foley, Brian Michelson, Tyron Milton and Steve Quanstrom.

In another softball game, for a younger age group, the team of Kevin Duffy, Gregg Cartwright, Arliegh Amante, and Billy Bobadilla came in first over the team of Dan Feinbert, Larry Amante, Roger Zapata and Robert Zapata.

In the closing activity for the week, Westmoor Park defeated Daniel Webster in a hockey game — 9-7, a win that was not really decided until the last seven minutes. Reggie Bowie for this outstanding performance in the game, was Westmoor Park's "Offensive Player of the Weel." Others showing good performances were goalies Gregg Weiner, Pat McMillan, Wingman, Ramon Balagot, Dave Gunter, Jack Dorn, Marcel Crossland, Steve Quanstrom, Craig Bloom and Tiny Donaire. Leading the cheering for Westmoor Park was Julie Duffy.

WOODROW WILSON SCHOOL: The first full week of summer recreation drew to an eventful close at Woodrow Wilson School with softball ranking high on the list of activities. Among the numerous softball players were Joe Bender, Dave and Tony Paras, Timmy and David Bender, Albert Keb, John Bender, Rodney Williams, Patricia Bender, Jerry and John Richardson, Jackie Bender, Harold Hill, Louie Pazzola and Woodrow's "Main Man", Booker. The softball players are looking forward to their first game against Vista Grande.

Stiff competition can be expected on the checker board from Albert Keb and Joey Bender as they seem to be the ones to beat. Meanwhile John Cosmos, has demonstrated notable skill in chess.

Document a Challenge

Examining the proposed 1973-74 city budget of South San Francisco presented quite a challenge this year.

It ballooned this year into four large volumes, totaling more than six inches in thickness.

It wasn't that the city's spending was going to be that much bigger next year, either.

Finance Director Ed Alario explained that he was switching to a program budget this year, under which all expenditures are broken down into projects, with the project goals and descriptions given, to justify all expenditures.

For instance, the project description of the city council is given to "review and analyze all available information relevant to factors pertinent to the city. To create legislation and policies, to fulfill its obligation as the policy maker of the city and to give direction to the city manager for implementation of the policies."

The project goal of the council? It is "to provide the best available services to the community at the lowest and most reasonable cost. To protect the welfare of residents and business within the city."

The new format made the task of finding any specific information, such as the number of new employes requested, new equipment, or city manager's salary, a marathon task of fli ping through hundreds of pages, since much of the information was fragmented among many different city functions.

The preliminary budget also lacked many of the usual features of city budgets.

Firefighters In Pacifica Obtain Order

The Pacifica Firefighters' Union has gone to court to seek a solution to its salary differences with the City of Pacifica.

Superior Court Judge Robert D. Miller has issued a temporary restraining order to prevent the city and its officials from enacting or implementing a salary ordinance for firemen without submitting controversies between the plaintiff and the defendant to an impasse hearing, and requiring the city to show cause why it is refusing to submit the controversies to such a hearing.

A hearing has been scheduled before Judge Miller at 9:30 a.m. July 16.

In its complaint, filed with San Mateo County Superior Court, the Pacifica Firefighters Union, Local 1453, International Association of Firefighters, contends that negotiations between the union and the city concerning wages, hours and other conditions of employment have resulted in a failure to reach agreement.

It is contended that the city has refused a written demand by the union to hold impasse meetings or establish impasse procedures in violation of the Government Code.

FOR GUYS AND GALS
LADY J LEATHERS

Tanforan Park Shopping Center

• UPPER LEVEL •

Don't let the name fool you! While we originally carried only women's wear . . . the tremendous growing demand for leather fashions of all kinds by men have led us to expand our selections . . . today we sell as much MEN'S LEATHER as we do WOMEN'S LEATHER!

If you feel, as so many do, the need to get back to something REAL, GENUINE and EARTHY, then you appreciate the "fragrance and feel" of the inherent value of quality leathers and suedes. If you wish a fashion garment that conveys lasting quality and distinction, you will appreciate the warmth, comfort and truly great value of leather and suede fashions from LADY J.

WE ARE PROUD TO SHOW YOU A LEATHER SELECTION UNSURPASSED ANYWHERE IN CALIFORNIA!

Because we have three successful stores in the Bay Area, you have available a tremendous depth of fashion selection at Lady J.

As in most commodities, there are good and bad qualities in leather. We do not argue that our prices might not be the lowest . . . we do insist that our quality is the best!

Please Join Us This Thursday

. . . share some Champagne with us and get acquainted with our fashions and staff. We will always be at your service.
